

Keep Baby's Woollens Soft and Sweet

Even little garments are dear now—you must make them last, and of course you want them always soft and comfy for the important wee person.

The little woollens need never shrink a thread—never stiffen or grow thick—not after repeated washings if you cleanse them in the pure, creamy Lux lather. It's so simple to whip the delicate Lux flakes into a rich suds—so simple to squeeze the suds through the little garments—then take them out absolutely sweet and clean and fresh.

Lux harms nothing that pure water may touch.

SCOTTISH WOMEN'S HOSPITAL UNITS

Wonderful Work of Nurses From North Country in Various Sectors of war.

An organization that was already equipped for service when war was declared, and that has made a name for itself that will forever stand among the grandest in the world for service, is the Scottish Women's Hospital Units. Endurance under the most trying circumstances, resourcefulness in the worst emergencies, bravery in the presence of real danger, unselfish devotion to the sick and suffering, and an utter disregard for their own personal comfort—these are the characteristics of the brave women composing this now famous band. Edinburgh is the mother city, but London, Glasgow, Cardiff, Belfast, Manchester, and even Canada, United States and India have branches of the committee.

Nine Hospital Units.

Since September, 1914, this committee has equipped and fitted up nine Hospital Units and two Ambulance Transport Columns. Wherever these women have undertaken any line of work some splendid achievement is put to their credit. Their very first work was at Calais, where Belgian troops were stricken with typhoid. Under Dr. Alice Hutchinson, the Scottish Women's Hospitals had the lowest rate in the town. Next the call came from the Abbaye de Royaumont, about twenty miles from Paris. What was a magnificent chateau, with cloistered halls and vaulted ceilings, has become one of the best hospitals in France working under the French Red Cross, for French wounded, thanks to the Scottish women.

None But Women.

It was staffed from the start entirely by women. A great curiosity it was and inspected constantly by the sceptical and downright unbelievers. Evacuated patients were closely questioned as to the treatment received, and their reports evidently upset all traditions and prejudices as to the ability of women doctors. At the request of high French authorities patients, after that investigation, were sent straight from the army zone instead of from Paris, and the additional request was made that the capacity of the hospital should be doubled. The Somme drive brought wounded, day and night, in a steady stream. Many were cases of gas gangrene, which demands immediate treatment. The great majority were cured, and some of the worst were Senegalese and Algerians. In two days 170 patients were admitted, and Dr. Ivens operated from nine in the morning until five in the afternoon of the next day. Few men surgeons could equal that for endurance.

Work in Serbia.

What the Scottish Women's Hospital Units meant to Serbia is only fairly known by the world at present, but the name of Dr. Elsie Inglis is already mentioned with those of heroes as well as heroines of all time. When peace comes it will be adequately commemorated. The names of Dr. Alice Hutchinson and Dr. Macgregor, Dr. Bliss, the Hon. Mrs. Haverfield stand out prominently as officers of the Units, but back of them is a veritable battalion of brave young women nurses, chauffeurs who braved danger and drove their ambulances loaded with wounded so carefully and so skilfully. A whole volume would be too little in which to record the new work accomplished by this already famous body of women.
