Duty of Union
To Its Members.

A case of particular interest to members of trade unions was tried recently in Alberta. According to the account published in the Labor Gazette, two coal miners were refused admission to a union and as a result they were unable to secure employment. Not being able to sue the union because it was not incorporated the men sued the officers and members of the union individually with the result that they secured damages to the amount of $435.62 for loss of wages and $100 general damages with costs. The argument used in trying the case was that they were wrongfully excluded contrary to the constitution of the union and were deprived of a civil right as a consequence. This seems to place the trades union in the light of a public institution with a public duty to perform.

Work for Men at Front Done Locally.

The summarized reports of the local Red Cross societies is a splendid record of work done to help the men who are fighting our battles. The total money raised, including the amount sent to the prisoners of war, amounts to $15,835 and all the expense incurred in doing it was only $115. Added to that is the work done by the ladies and donated which is valued at over $3,000 and the car load of sphagnum moss which commercially is valued at not less than $2,000, making a grand total of approximately $21,000 for this district alone for Red Cross purposes during the year just completed. It was hardly to be wondered at that the society should return to office the men and women who had done such fine work, the exception being in the case of Mr. Conway who found it impossible to continue as secretary. The society needs no congratulations. The work speaks for itself.

Much to Do
Before the End.

(Contributed).

Great events are occurring every day in European countries. The war has entered into the condition where men and women imagine that no further effort is necessary to bring the Teutons to their knees. It would be dangerous and might bring disaster if we failed in keeping up every atom of our self-imposed task, to assist the nation at this critical period. The strain has been immense on all classes and conditions, but it must go on to the bitter end. The surrender of Bulgaria and the unrest in Turkey and Austria appears of great importance, which no doubt it is. Prussia will be alone in the struggle against almost every other nation in the world.

The Teutons begin to realize "that their place in the sun" is liable to become obliterated, and will make every effort to save their country from suffering the devastation wrought by them in the countries of our allies. We now have hundreds of thousands of prisoners to support. Our armies are increasing and our fatalities are not decreasing by any means. Food is required for our overseas forces and for those who are not producers. The manufacture of war munitions and shipping must continue. The enemy is able to put up a stiff fight along the shortened line before we force him across the river Rhine.

The history of Napoleon shows that there is always danger from a despot while he is at large. There is still work for all of us to accomplish before the world returns to a state when the soldier will lay down his arms and when the non-belligerent gives up his work in support of good government. The German menace is far from being squelched, even in our own country. Our duty to our country and to ourselves is to still keep up interest in everything going on around us leading to a permanent peace. When our fleet returns to its moorings and our soldier boys return to their homes it will be time to say "Thank God the world is now and forever a safe place in which to live."

Keep up the Food Supply and Help Make Victory Sure

"I AM assured that my people will respond to every call necessary to the success of our cause—with the same indomitable ardour and devotion that have filled me with pride and gratitude since the war began."

HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE

OUR soldiers must be fed; the people at home must be fed. And—in spite of Germany's murderous campaign to cut off the Allies' Food supply, by sinking every ship on the High Seas—an ample and unfailing flow of food to England and France must be maintained.

This is National Service—
Not to the Farmer only—
But to YOU—to everybody—
This appeal is directed

WE must unite as a Nation to SERVE—to SAVE and to PRODUCE. Men, women and children; the young, the middle aged and the old—all can help in the Nation's Army of Production.

EVERY pound of FOOD raised, helps reduce the cost of living and adds to the Food Supply for Overseas.
