Ship Contracts For This City.

The real thing came from Ottawa on Saturday morning when the wire brought the joyful message that the offer of the Dominion Government to the Mullen Construction Co. to build two steel vessels for them had been accepted. It is not impossible that something may yet be done by interested parties to try to head this off, but it is hardly likely after the statements of the ministers when they were here recently and the fact that the Government offers were made in the presence of the Prince Rupert delegates.

It is just possible that the Government is beginning to realize that the new general manager of the railway is what is slangily known as a "live wire" and that it is just as well to give him some encouragement. No matter what the reason, this city has cause to welcome the change of viewpoint.

The Delegation Deserves Thanks.

Whether we get ships built here or not the delegates who hurried to Ottawa, quietly and without ostentation but with great promptness, deserve and should publicly receive the thanks of the whole community for their effective work. It is practically sure that had they not gone there would have been no shipbuilding. One who was there is inclined to the opinion that had a delegation gone before we should have got the ships to build earlier. As was stated Saturday, Mayor McClymont would have gone had he been able to leave the city, but people were dying all around him and it was his particular work to see that they were properly cared for. Had he gone he would have been charged with leaving the important work in order to look after the material things. He did splendid service in connection with the epidemic which will be long remembered, and he left the Ottawa duties to able men who carried them through to success.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, perhaps more than any other, is to be congratulated on his efforts. True he is the representative of the city, but he is also the Minister of Lands which makes him the representative of the whole province. He had to be in Ottawa at the time of the Conference of Premiers, several weeks later, and for that reason it seemed almost impossible that he could leave. The urgency of the call, however, appealed to him and he went. That is the advantage of having a live representative.

Mr. Manson also was up to the eyes in work. His calls to remain at home seemed almost imperative, but above everything Mr. Manson is public spirited. He sees visions and dreams dreams. He saw a vision of a greater, a better and a more prosperous Prince Rupert, where the residents would have more of the advantages of city life and some of the narrowness and pettiness of political strife would pass away. He must have seen such a vision for he packed his grip in an hour and checked it for Ottawa.

Mr. Pillsbury also made up his mind quickly and his expert knowledge and perfect understanding of the whole case helped to make things easy. He hiked for the pullman and was soon bowling along toward the capital.

President Wallace of the Board of Trade found it absolutely impossible to leave, but was keen on sending the right men and in getting them away on time.

And then the aldermen of the city endorsed the action of the others without a murmur and did themselves credit and will be glad of it from now on.

What Does It Mean To Build Ships?

It means a good deal more to have ships built here than appears on the surface. To every corner of Canada will go the news that this is an important port, sufficiently important to have a big shipbuilding plant. The advertising we shall get will be immense. When a ship is launched the news will be sent abroad and when each vessel sails there will be more publicity. If to crown it the first vessel should sail with a cargo from this port we should really begin to feel that we were on the road to progress.

The Mullen Construction Company have leased the drydock as well as the shipbuilding yards. This it is their intention to use for commercial work. It will take time to work up the business, but when the ships are completed the repair business should be so large as to make it possible to keep a staff of men here on repair work even if no new contracts are in sight.

But more ships will be needed, if not for the Government, then for private concerns.
