cording to the weekly crop report of the agricultural department, Canadian National Railways. In the more northerly districts, rank, heavy growth will delay ripening and an early frost would cause havoc although at present damage from devastating hail, wind, drought, soil blowing, insects and rust has affected a very small percentage of the western acreage. In Manitoba, weather has been exceedingly interspersed with thunder showers and grain is maturing rapidly. Cutting will commence in some districts the beginning of the week, while in others early fields will not be opened until the first week of August. The wheat crop appears heavy but in many of the more southerly districts the oat and barley stands are being damaged by grasshoppers. Farmers are now busy haying and the supply of fodder for the coming winter should be ample.

In Saskatchewan weather has been warm with heavy showers which have improved conditions. Wheat is ripening fast and it is expected the first binders will start operations about August 1. Farmers are hoping for another good rain before harvest as many of the fields require more moisture for Famous Theatrical Producer Died normal berry filling.

In Central and Northern Saskatchewan conditions remain promising and, although some points in the central area could stand more moisture, this is not true of the northern districts where moisture is now so abundant that lodging persists and maturity will be delayed. Rust is now appearing at several points but it is not general.
