THE NEW POLICY

Premier Bennett seems to have adopted the new policy. of diplomacy. He has placed his cards on the table at the beginning of negotiations. Not only that but he did so openly and publicly so that all Canadians might know exactly what he was doing.

The Bennett policy seems to be a good one. It is strictly modern and looks like a winner. Everybody hopes that it will be successful, except possibly a few old time party men who are better party men than they are Canadians.

We suggest again, as we have suggested before, that today Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett is the Prime Minister of Canada and as such should receive general support in any national or international crisis, whenever it is possible to do so. We should rejoice in his success for it means the succes of the whole country.

There seems to be a division of opinion in Canada in regard to the new St. Lawrence Waterways Treaty. On the one side the project promises to reduce the cost of conveying wheat to market and thus should benefit the farmers. It would be the logical consummation of the scheme! already started by the deepening and widening of the Welland Canal. If the work starts soon it will give employment and help to bring both Canada and United States. back to a more prosperous condition.

The opposing views have been summarized by Premier Taschereau of Quebec. He says the scheme will give the United States power to the extent of a million horsepower for use on their side of the boundary whereas if the scheme were held back the industries would come to the Canadian side where cheap power is already available. The scheme will add millions of dollars to Canada's debt at a time when the people are already taxed more than they can bear. Ontario will benefit from the project at the expense of the other parts of Canada, particularly from getting cheap power. This is unfair to other provinces and to existing M. M. Stephens & Co. Ltd. power companies that are paying high taxes. The fourth objection is that if the waterway ever became useful for Rates navigation by sea-going vessels it would bring about severe competition with the railways which are already at the end of their tether and unable to operate profitably. Mr. Taschereau concludes by declaring that the building of the waterway would be a national crime.

Let's Give a Lead To Ottawa

Conference

The Imperial Economic Conference is trying to work out a scheme by which the nations of the Empire will spend more of their money at home instead of sending it to for. eign countries. In that way they expect to increase the prosperity of the nations of the British Commonwealth

Prince Rupert people can give Ottawa a lead by spend. ing their money in their own city and thus increase the prosperity of Prince Rupert. The principle is very similar and much easier to carry out. All that is needed is a determination on the part of local people that they are going to help their own town and share in her progress.
