

CHURCHES ARE WEIGHED AND FOUND WANTING

Archbishop Suggests They May be Curse to Community Instead of Blessing.

LEAGUE WOULD BE BETTER THAN NO UNION

Great Mission of Christ to Bind Together in Brotherly Love and Mutual Service.

In a letter to the editor received yesterday Archbishop Du Vernet again returns to the question of Church Union. He says:— "A half truth is often a practical error. In the Protestant churches there are some who say: 'If we have unity of spirit there is no need for unity of organizations.' The half truth is the fact that unity of organization must be the outcome of unity of spirit. The practical error lies in the fact that unity of spirit as it grows must clothe itself in some organization or else it will be chilled to death.

"The great mission of the Church of Christ is to bind together in brotherly love and mutual service all classes in the community, and ultimately all the nations in the world.

Other Organizations. "Viewed in the light of this mission the denominational churches are weighed in the balance and found wanting. However beneficial in other respects, in one respect at least they are a curse to the community because they cause distinct lines of social cleavage in the community. And so God, through the trend of events is in some degree at least quietly setting aside these denominational bodies and using other organizations such as Patriotic Societies, Benefit Lodges, Trade Unions, etc., to cut across these denominational lines of cleavage and break down these unchristian barriers of prejudice. The great war has shown the weakness of sectarianism. The most hopeful sign is the way in which the Spirit of God is working in the separated denominations creating a demand for some form of organic union.

Labor's Experience. "It may be truly said that Labor though very diverse is one in spirit, but Labor knows well it must have some organic tie if it is to make its influence felt in the community, but the Protestant Churches march separately into the Great Fight with no organic bond of union.

"If the Churches occupied different territory, as the nations do, it would be in order to press for a league of churches to correspond with a League of Nations, but as these churches cover the same ground with more or less competition a mere League of Churches, though better than no tie whatever, will never prove a final solution of the religious problem. There must be one organic body with different members having different functions. Variety there must be, but variety in unity. All the different members acting in co-ordination under one head, in accordance with one plan, and for one purpose.

Central Brain. "In a democratic age like this a Representative Church Council may well be the central brain receiving impressions from the mind of the Spirit so that Christ is still the head of the Church."
