Then—And Now.

Once upon a time, and not so long ago either, a former mayor of Prince Rupert went east to buy money. And when he came back he didn't know how much it had cost him. Would you trust the same man to buy coal?

Six and Half a Dozen.

The City of Vancouver, Mayor Gale wrote to our City Council, is not in the coal business. And when Vancouver does sell coal, the price they have to charge is the same as the local coal dealers charge. Query, How much better off are the Vancouver citizens when they purchase city coal? The answer seems to be that they are about as well off as Prince Rupert citizens would be in similar circumstances.

The Housing Problem in Canada.

In considerations of conditions prevailing at present throughout Canada, the Dominion Government has decided to set aside $25,000,000 towards the better housing of the population. This sum will be divided among the provinces, whose governments will handle their proportions. The Dominion Government is not by itself going to carry out any building scheme, but will work through the Provincial Governments, who in turn will reloan the money to the municipalities.

It is not to be expected that the total of $25,000,000 is adequate to provide all the accommodation necessary throughout the Dominion. This sum, however, will make a start to finance the building of necessary new homes in many towns. In Ontario the Provincial government has put up $2,000,000 extra for loans to municipalities, with the condition that each town borrowing puts up 25 per cent of the amount borrowed as well.

So far as can be judged at present, it is expected that the municipalities are to have the responsibility of meeting the housing problem, with this money provided by the Dominion government, with probable additions from the Provincial treasury and the municipal coffers as well. The actual handling of the scheme will be watched with much interest.

Whether the municipalities borrowing will build and rent their houses, or whether loans will be made to the taxpayers to enable them to build their own houses will depend largely upon local conditions. Possibly the latter course would be the safest for the municipality.

There is no doubt that in Prince Rupert there is a scarcity of modern houses, and before any industry, such as shipbuilding starts, preparation must of necessity be made to house properly the additional workers brought here. In the pioneer days, people here were content to live in shacks, because no better could be had, but these days are now past.

If this scheme will enable the worker to build and own his own home, by means of a loan on fair terms, spread over a reasonably long period, it would seem to be an opportunity to be grasped.

Bringing the Boys Home Again.

The present plans of the Government for the bringing back of Canada's army from overseas makes the rate at about 20,000 monthly. According to Major General A. D. McRae, however, the British government has offered transportation for 60,000 troops per month. This means that instead of nearly two years being occupied for this purpose, Canada's soldiers could all be returned to their homes and kin in a matter of less than eight months. It has also been brought out that there are still between 60,000 and 70,000 soldiers' dependents now in Great Britain who will have to be repatriated. The governments of the other self-governing dominions are providing free transportation for their soldiers' relatives. If Canada does not do this also, it will mean that in many cases the wives and families of many will remain in Great Britain for a while after the husband has returned to Canada.

That the people of Canada would prefer to have their boys back at the soonest is sure, and it is just possible that the number to be returned each month will be increased.

can be washed over and over again with Lux and still retain the delightful charm of freshness and newness. Very desirable, this, in war time! Lux is so gentle in its cleansing power that it cannot harm the most delicate fabric.

How to wash a silk garment

Use a tablespoonful of Lux to a gallon of water. Dissolve in boiling or very hot water and whisk into a thick, creamy lather. Add cold water until luke warm. Dip your garment through the Lux suds many times. Work it about, gently squeezing the suds through the soiled parts but do not rub! Rinse in three waters—clear and also luke warm. Press the water out—but do not wring. Dry in the shade and when nearly dry press on the wrong side with a warm iron—never a hot one. Press creases from side to side and stretch a very little as you press. They will look just like new!
