PRaise FOR GENERAL FOCH FROM HARDEN

Paris, Jan. 2.—Maximilian Harden, the German editor, in an interview has declared to the correspondent of The Temps that Germany was beaten by the superior strategy of the French generals. Marshal Foch, he declared, was a military leader far above Ludendorff, who has never been victorious on the front. As for von Hindenburg, the editor characterized as little more than a figurehead. Harden expressed the fear that the loss of Alsace-Lorraine would be for Germany a wound like that suffered by France, but he hoped that the border would have no great importance in the future.

Concerning the present situation in Germany, Harden believed it very serious. In his opinion an industrial crisis was imminent, the revolution becoming more and more the agitation of delirium. He feared the extension of the Bolsheviki movement in Germany, if that country were obliged to make too great sacrifices. But he was convinced that the Socialist revolution would have no influence on France, of which the national spirit was not prone to Marxism.

SPLINTER CAUSED BLOOD-POISONING

From just such simple injuries, serious cases of blood-poisoning sometimes develop. Mrs. Helm of Tidnish River (R.R. No. 1), N.S., ran a splinter into her hand, and as she could not get it all out, the place became very sore and festered. Finally, despite all her efforts, blood-poisoning set in.

Writing about it Mrs. Helm says: "The pain I suffered was at times intense, and although I tried remedy after remedy, it got no better and eventually turned to blood-poisoning.
I had suffered for several months, when one day I saw Zam-Buk advertised, and decided to give it a week's fair trial. By the end of that time my hand was so much better that I was able to extract the splinter. I continued using Zam-Buk. Gradually the poison was all drawn out, the pain was ended, the swelling disappeared, and finally the sore place was entirely healed."

The above case is typical of scores: Keep Zam-Buk handy in your home, and by applying it immediately an injury is sustained, prevent any possibility of festering or blood-poisoning. You will find Zam-Buk equally good, too, for all skin troubles, eczema, boils, pimples, ulcers, abscesses, running sores, bad legs, piles, cuts and burns. All dealers
