Social Diseases Danger to Race.

One of the most serious menaces to human health and progress is venereal disease, often spoken of as social disease. At one time it was considered immodest and immoral to speak of this, but the prudens have had their day and now efforts are being made to educate all young men and women in regard to the dangers of the disease. It is the natural outcome of immorality and is the hell to which those who sin in that way. In the report of the Convention of B. C. Municipalities which is just published in the Canadian Municipal Journal Dr. Young, Provincial Health Officer, is reported as saying in part:

"Someone once, asked the question: When should you begin the education of the child? The suggestive reply was: One hundred years before its birth. I quote this simply because if it is true of the education of the child, then it is doubly true of its health; it is true today as it was two thousand years ago, that 'the sins of the fathers are visited upon the children.' Therefore it is very necessary that a great deal of attention should be paid to health matters. Attention such as I am referring to might imply that prior to the marriage ceremony it should be required that the contracting parties should have a clean bill of health and that they should have a certificate to that effect. This procedure has been tried in various parts of the world but not with any degree of success; in fact it has not succeeded at all, so that it can be seen that it is absolutely necessary that a campaign of education should be carried on to overcome and rid the world of these social diseases that are such a great menace to the health of the Dominion, and to the natural increase of our population.

Causes Death of Many Infants.

"Social diseases are responsible for forty per cent. of the deaths of infants under one year. This means a very serious problem for our health departments, at a time when our province is crying for more population. Such a drain as that on our population is very serious for the government and people of a new and growing country, such as we have here. It is a question of very great importance, and one which the Government of every community of the world is beginning to consider seriously. In 1913 a commission was appointed in Great Britain to make an investigation into the matter and they gave their report to Parliament in 1916. Sir William Osler, the dean of the medical profession throughout the world, at an important medical meeting in Great Britain, said that he considered this question was important enough to make an investigation into it from a national as well as from a medical point of view.

Several Suggestions To Combat the Evil.

"The United States Government has also been considering the question of national morality; it seems to me, therefore, that before a body, such as we have here, of men representative of the best from our various municipalities, a matter of this kind should be brought to their attention so that when a propaganda is initiated, which we propose in the immediate future, they will have some comprehension of the importance of it, and as legislators in your own community that you will take an intelligent and sympathetic view of the movement.

"In this report to the British Parliament there were several important suggestions made.

"First, that there should be free diagnosis of the disease;

"Second, a free medical treatment.

"Third, a campaign of education should be conducted pointing out the great drain on the natural increase of population from the presence of venereal disease.

"Fourth, they also suggested that these diseases should be made 'reportable'."

Pure Cream Makes the Richness

There is a pure cream richness about Pacific Milk that is the only secret behind its goodness for cooking.

You see, all we do to the rich, fresh milk as it comes from the farm is to evaporate water out of it.

This leaves the natural butter fat and other cream solids as they were.

Then we seal it up so it remains fresh and sweet.

Try it in the next recipe which calls for milk or cream.
