Money in Fishing For Returned Soldiers.

R. H. Pooley, the member for Esquimalt in the local legislature expressed the opinion on the floor of the House a few days ago that returned soldiers would find fishing an even more lucrative occupation than going on the land. That is probably true. If the Government would make a grant sufficiently large to cover the cost of a boat and tackle and provide instruction to the men, just as they do in farming, there might be a good many take it up as a permanent occupation.

To expect however that a soldier who has never fished is to make a good living from fishing without having had any instruction in the art, would be just as foolish as to expect him to go on a farm and make a living under similar circumstances.

There is nothing easy about fishing nor is it an occupation that anyone can follow without learning. Instruction and experience are necessary. New men by sharing with an experienced man, one finding the money and the other the experience, some times makes good, but it is not a game to be learned in a day. Fishing is a distinct craft and if returned men are to take it up, as they well may, they must be taught. There is an element of excitement about it that is not found on the farm and which would very likely appeal to the men who have been overseas.

Look to Teachers In Educational Matters.

At the school board meeting this week Dr. Kergin, chairman of the Board, stated that they looked to the members of the teaching staff to make suggestions in matters pertaining to their work. The trustees wanted to do the best they possibly could for the pupils, but the members of the board were not trained in matters educational and therefore they expected to receive advice from those who were in a position to give it.

The trustees, Dr. Kergin said, were elected from year to year and knew nothing about schools. He believed in leaving the technical work to the teachers.

The doctor might have gone on to say that almost every person believes himself to be an expert in matters educational because every person has been to school at some time or other, and the system then in vogue is looked upon by many as the one which should obtain now. They do not remember that there is progress in every walk of life and that there must have been progress in teaching since the days when most of us went to school.

Before taking a school every teacher has to take a course of training in pedagogy which is supposed to fit him for the work in hand. Almost a year is spent in the training school after he has received a certificate of competence educationally. During that time he studies methods of teaching, psychology, logic, and some of the arts and refinements which go with the profession. This puts him in a position to advise on matters educational as well as to teach.

GAY TIME SPENT AT WAR VETERANS' DANCE

Large Attendance gather for Delightful Affair at St. Andrew's Hall Last Night.

There was a scene of much gaiety at St. Andrew's Hall last night when several hundred people gathered for an evening's enjoyment. There was a wealth of youth and beauty such as is seldom seen anywhere. All the terpsichorean artists of the city were there, so many that it was sometimes difficult to guide the steps aright amid the mazes of the waltz or the springy movements of the fox trot.

The dainty refreshments were served by the ladies auxiliary; the bowl of punch was in charge of Mrs. N. Demers and Mrs. W. H. Vickers; Jack Frost made an excellent M. C. and delightful music was provided by the Harvey Orchestra. J. Hutchinson and R. Shrubbs acted as door keepers. The hall was decorated for the occasion by the Great War Veterans.

The Great War Veterans are to be congratulated on the success of the event, which was under their auspices.

FEAR OF FAMINE.

Visitor in Asylum: Who is that intellectual looking giant in the padded cell?

Attendant: A newspaper editor. He worried himself crazy by imagining the Peace Conference would end before the ball season opened, and that, in the interval, he wouldn't be able to find enough news to fill his paper.
