Construct Road To Port Edward.

Premier Oliver recently announced that a large sum of money would be used during the coming year in road construction. In view of the fact that Prince Rupert is absolutely shut in and that a road leading out is needed badly, The News has been asked to draw attention to the desirability of part of the money being spent in constructing a road between this city and Port Edward.

Much of the townsite of Port Edward is owned by the Provincial Government, following the tax sale of last year. To build the road would mean making the lots in that townsite saleable. It would mean the beginning of the road which eventually will connect the canneries on the Skeena with the city. It would prove an invaluable outlet for the people of this city who today are totally shut in as far as motor transportation is concerned.

The road would also be the beginning of a scenic drive around the island, which would pass the natural tidal rapids and prove a most important asset to the city.

Heartless Appeal Of Railway Company.

The Workmen's Compensation Board, a Provincial Government institution, following the Princess Sophia tragedy, commenced paying out compensation, according to the usual scale, to the dependents of those whose lives were lost on that vessel. The C. P. R. objected to this procedure for the apparent reason that next year they would have a higher assessment to pay.

The action of the C. P. R. seems to have been most ill-advised. There was not the slightest consideration for the people who have suffered as a result of the accident. It is the policy which has been followed by many corporations. They would haggle over a few dollars to a bereaved widow or mother and at the same time pay huge dividends to shareholders and set aside large sums for reserve.

The Workmen's Compensation Act was framed to meet such cases. Unhappily in this particular instance the accident happened outside Canada and on that technicality the company is disputing the claim. The Compensation Board under the advice of the Provincial Government at once appealed the case and it will go to the higher court.

Celebrating St. Patrick's Day.

This is St. Patrick's Day, the day which all Irishmen celebrate as their national holiday. It is the anniversary of the birthday of the patron Saint of the Emerald Isle.

St. Patrick is said to have been born in France, which was then a part of the Roman empire. In his youth he was taken captive and sent as a prisoner to Ireland, where his task was to herd sheep and swine in the hills of County Down. Here he learned to speak the Gaelic (Irish) language and grew to love the simple people among whom his lot was cast. After some years he escaped and found his way back to France and to his family. He then entered into training for the life of a missionary, and after many years' study was ordained bishop, and sent by Pope Celestine to convert the Irish people to the Christian faith.

Shamrock Chosen As National Emblem.

Many beautiful stories, some no doubt of a legendary nature, are told of his hardships and difficulties, as well as of his great and miraculous successes during this period of the good man's life. The origin of the shamrock as Ireland's national emblem may here be related. It is said that the saint had great difficulty in convincing his converts as to the mystery of the Trinity. To help his hearers he plucked a trefoil from the ground and showing how the three leaves grew from one stem, yet the leaves and stem formed only one plant, he initiated them into the mystic principles of the Three Divine Persons in One God.

It was in the year 432 that Patrick was sent to Ireland, and we read in well authenticated histories that so successful was he in his mission, and so enthusiastically did the Irish people embrace the two-fold blessings of Christianity and of learning of all sorts that from that period on for many centuries Ireland was known all over Europe as the "Island of Saints and Scholars."

Local Irishmen are celebrating the day by a concert in the Westholme Theatre and a dance in the St. Andrew's Hall.
