Ice Everywhere Except Here.

When the despatches tell of the ice-bound coast of Newfoundland where the ice floes prevent ships approaching the coast the sunshine and balmy breezes of Prince Rupert are particularly enjoyable. At some of the Alaskan points we read that the ice is breaking up. Everywhere there seems to be ice except here!

Work Commencing at Shipbuilding Plant.

The announcement which was made yesterday by officials of the Prince Rupert Drydock & Engineering Co. to the effect that work on the plant had actually commenced and that the contracts had been let for grading the slips is an indication that no time is being lost and that the city will become busier every day. It will be an additional impetus to the building campaign which is being carried on with vigor and is meeting with much success.

Present Government Not Satisfactory.

There seems to have been some idea that the Daily News in objecting to Bolshevism was satisfied with the present form of government. There was no such intimation. There are improvements to be made in our methods of government, undoubtedly. We are a long way from perfect but evolution and revolution are two entirely different things. If the industrious and the clever are to be supplanted by those who have no ability to improve their condition here but who want to control by sheer force of numbers and restrain those who have ambitions, if they aim to do this by a process of confiscation, The News is opposed to their policy. It is dangerous and liable to lead to trouble.

Chances of Bolshevism On This Continent.

As so much interest is taken in the matter of Bolshevism just now and in view of the fact that some are advocating extreme measures in dealing with agitators, we take liberty in again quoting from the article by Steinmiz in the American Magazine for April:

"The chances of Bolshevism in this or any country are a plain matter of figures. Wherever a majority of the people is discouraged and hopeless under its present conditions, Bolshevism—or a revolution of some sort—will find receptive soil and may succeed. Where the majority is reasonably comfortable and believes that evolution is constantly lifting the people as a whole to a higher level of living, it cannot succeed.

"As to the first point, the great mass of Americans is living under fair conditions. I do not mean that these conditions could not be much better. They should be made better. But they might be much worse than they are.

"People here are free to express their will. If they make mistakes in doing so, the remedy is always in their own hands. Our form of government is uneconomical and inefficient, to be sure. But it is not class government. Everyone suffers alike from its shortcomings; so there is no reason why one class more than another should try to change it by a sharp upheaval.

"And we undoubtedly are working toward something better. The leaders of thought—I do not mean political leaders, but thoughtful men in all walks of life—are gradually working out ideas for a better conduct of the nation's interests. I believe that labor as a whole realizes this. In fact, labor is taking its own part in it."
