DOMINION HOUSING PROPOSAL DISCUSSED

Matter Left for the Finance Committee of the City Council For Report.

At the meeting of the City Council last night a letter was received from T. D. Pattullo further explaining the proposals in regard to loans to soldiers and widows of soldiers for house building.

Under the scheme the municipality must enter into an agreement with the Provincial Government to administer the fund under rules and regulations to be mutually agreed upon. The scheme for South Vancouver was enclosed and also a copy of the bill under which the Provincial Government is authorized to undertake the work. The points of likely difference of opinion arise chiefly over the matter of security and building regulations. In South Vancouver, for instance, no lot must be smaller than 50 feet by 120 feet, a wise provision, but unhappily under the conditions existing here it would be unworkable.

The proposal is left with the Finance Committee for a report.

NOW THE TIME TO BUILD

There appears to be considerable doubt as to the most opportune time to build, with a general impression that lumber and building materials will undoubtedly take a drop in the near future, and some people are endeavoring to persuade themselves that it will be wise for them not to go ahead with building operations this season.

W. B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor for the U. S. Government describes the situation as follows:

"The belief that building materials are to be much cheaper may keep many men from getting into construction this spring. But to any man who feels that these materials are to become cheaper I would say, 'What is the foreign market on building materials?' The answer is that the foreign market is unprecedentedly high. What is the foreign market on labor? Higher than ever before in the history of the world. What is the production of building materials? Production has been practically nothing in Europe for four years and nothing here for two years. There is a decided under-production. What is bound to be the demand sooner or later? The demand is bound to be the heaviest in the history of industry, for the rebuilding is without end and we are years behind in new construction."

"Prices are up 60 per cent above normal pre-war prices on building materials. Prices on all materials, including building materials, are up more than 100 per cent. Prices on materials exclusive of building materials are up 109 per cent. Building materials have been much less affected by war conditions than have other materials. They have been less affected because there has been less demand for building materials. Now that a great demand logically may be expected, would it seem reasonable that these materials should go down?"

We in Prince Rupert are not the only ones feeling the acuteness of the housing situation, the same condition exists in every city or town of any importance from coast to coast. It is also true that real estate values have shrunk considerably and I venture to state that the difference between the cost of the average lot from 1912 to 1914 is enough to offset the higher price to be paid for building materials.
