WAS EASY MARK FOR NEW YORK SWINDLERS

Saskatchewan Farmer Tries to Get Rich Quick, But Becomes Suddenly Poorer.

The time-worn wire-tapping swindle with two men, giving their names as A. J. Smith and G. Minter, who had a "tip" on the steel market, cost Fred Seckinger, wealthy farmer of Humboldt, Sask., $3,900, he told police officials. Five weeks ago Seckinger left Humboldt for Rochester, Minn., where he was to undergo a serious operation at the Mayo hospital. Before the operation he contracted influenza and it was while recovering from this malady that he met Smith, who also had come to Rochester for an operation. They became great friends and Smith confided to Seckinger that he had just made a fortune through his friend, Minter.

One day while they were talking high finance, Seckinger said, they ran across Minter. It was agreed to let him in on a deal if he could produce $3,900. Seckinger was convinced the men were honest when he saw Smith hand Minter $1,000 to invest for him, so he returned to Humboldt, drew $3,900 by increasing his mortgage on his $40,000 farm, and returned to Rochester. All three then went to Winona, where Seckinger paid over his money. The men asked Seckinger to wait for them while they went inside a building for a moment. He has not seen them since, he told the police. Seckinger left for Rochester where he will undergo the operation.

JAPANESE ARE NOT VERY GOOD FLYERS

"Aviation with the Czech forces in Siberia was a washout," declared Capt. J. A. LeRoy, M. C., a member of the British Military Mission to Siberia, who returned to Victoria on the steamship Empress of Asia on his way through to Ottawa.

Capt. LeRoy was recalled from France seven days before the armistice and ordered to Siberia to take charge of the aviation branch of the Czech forces. Twenty-four aeroplanes were assembled at Vladivostok, but it was found impossible to put them in the field. Owing to the congestion of traffic on the trans-Siberian Railroad it was impossible to get necessary supplies and materials to a base inland, and as a result practically no planes operated with the Czechs.

Upon completing his duties with the aviation branch Captain LeRoy was attached to the international Military Mission, which was instructed to investigate that railway and civil conditions along the Siberian Railway.

Capt. LeRoy saw a great deal of the Japanese machines and flyers which were sent to Siberia. He does not think that the Japanese take a prominent place in aerial navigation. They do not make good flyers and they lack qualified mechanics.

The Value of Good Glasses

GLASSES have a value only so far as they represent the skill of your optician.

THE all important thing is that they correct and overcome the defects that cause visual trouble and discomfort. Nothing else will satisfy. No other standard is high enough.

MEASURE the worth of your glasses by what they do—not by what they are.

WHEN we make glasses, it is after a deliberate and careful examination, estimating accurately the amount of the defect, and grinding the lenses to cancel and eliminate it.
