PREMIER VITTORIA ORLANDO of Italy.

The despatches on Monday told of some of the difficulties which the Peace Conference was having and mentioned particularly that the Italian Premier, Vittoria Orlando, had to leave for home and must have a settlement of the Adriatic question before leaving. He had to be home for the opening of the Italian Parliament.

Professor Vittorio Emanuele Orlando, Premier of Italy, was born in Palermo, fifty-seven years ago, of one of the old and well known professional families of Italy. In early youth he displayed phenomenal intelligence and activity, and at the age of 22 was appointed Professor of Constitutional Right in the University of Palermo. He held this chair for a number of years. In 1892 he was elected member of the Chamber of Deputies from the province of Partinico and his election has been confirmed ever since. He is considered one of the foremost of the great Italian orators and enjoys great popularity with the entire population of Italy.

In August of last year Orlando addressed the after-the-war commission of Italy upon the problems confronting the nation and the world. His high-minded breadth of thought is apparent in the following extract from that speech:

"We should consider," said the Premier, "that the country never before has called together such an assemblage of all its vital forces, without distinction of party or class—representatives of parliament, of the administrative bureaus of the state, of the industrial establishments, business and agricultural interests, federations of labor of every kind and tendency, with a sprinkling of men of science and men of action, and a representation of women which represents a sympathetic assertion of new social energies. It is probable that other elements will yet be added.

"Nothing can be judged beforehand. England, and even Germany, which is master of system, as has been demonstrated by its skill in organizing evil, have estimated the needs and projected remedies to meet the new situation, thus providing before hand for the formidable situation that will follow the war. The business of reconstruction after destruction.

"As to the work to be covered by the commission, it is boundless. The war is a revolution, the greatest mankind has known, and its effects cannot be measured, whether in law, politics, economics, social relations or ethics. None of the problems is independent of the others. Thus the demobilization of troops is a grave problem of military technique, but considered in its effect on the rest of the people and its economic and social bearing it becomes closely related to the other problems to be studied.

"The formidable return of 4,000,000 men to the workshops and the fields does not in itself include all the problems of the transformation of agriculture and industry, because the factories and farms will make room for those who have obeyed the call of their country and have been absent for a long period of years. They will do this to prevent the dispersion and exhaustion of that great force of labor which the war itself created, if for no other reason. They will establish new conditions; they will perfect men with adaptability and skill to perform the new tasks.

"Hand in hand with demobilization goes the problem of emigration, which will be stimulated or retarded by the new conditions, but which must be guided and regulated. Emigration opens up a number of other problems no less important and perplexing,

Dear Sir:

Your Hanson Hot Water Coil has been in our range for just one year, and in all this time it has been 100 per cent plus efficient. I use the "plus" advisedly for not only has the coil provided an abundance of not warm but HOT water at all times, but by placing the forty-gallon tank in our large ten by ten bathroom it has kept it cosy in the coldest weather.

Although our range is small, Mrs. Young informs me she cannot see that the baking qualities are affected in the least by the coil.

In your perfection of a modern household necessity, I congratulate you.

Sincerely,
(Signed) R. B. YOUNG.

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH

By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.
