MADGE KENNEDY IN "FRIEND HUSBAND"

Unconventional Role Played by Famous Movie Star at the Empress Tonight.

Madge Kennedy, the individual artiste, is the star at the Empress Theatre this evening in a play of great interest. She plays the part of a girl who considers that she is above the bounds of conven-

Thinking that her married sisters are wrong to give themselves up entirely to their husbands and the home, she seeks to prove in her own experience the "higher destiny" of women. She marries a husband, just to have one, and 'Friend Husband' lives up to his name. She thought she could drop him after the ceremony and go her own way, but she becomes horrified when she finds that he intends to stick.

It is most interesting in the working out of the plot to see how she becomes cured of her foolish notions. Comedy is well represented on the program by Huns. He complimented the Sons Harold Lloyd, and the Vitagraph of England en the record they serial "The Woman in the Web" is an added attraction. The Emwhich ought to draw packed houses tonight again.

Navy Tom Silversides said that the high pinnacle which the Em- banquet. pire had attained was made possible through the army and navy. While they looked forward to a lasting peace yet they would always glory in the brave deeds of the army and navy. They were always fond of the poems which glorified the exploits of the fighting forces. What their forefathers did the present generation had also done.

Mr. Wakefield.

W. De Wakefield on behalf o 'Our Allies" said that after hearing of the glorification of the Empire the rest of the allies did not feel much. He said that with one exception the British had always fought for the right. They fought for freedom of thought, of press, of speech, of worship and of home. Germany on the other hand had been fighting for world domination. It was only the contemptible little army of Great Britain that had stopped them

Mr. Wakefield said that when the United States decided to take part in the war they did it with no divided power, but they realized that they could not have sent the men but for the mighties machine the world ever knew, the British navy.

Miss Laura Pim.

Replying for "The Ladies," Miss Laura M. Pim said that the new womanhood had been evolved from the crucible of human suffering. A common sympathy was making men and women equal in the light of the law. She thought that what women had done showed that they had the ability to stand beside men. It would be a calamity, however, if women decided to remain im industrial occupations. She believed in Canada and she asked the Sons of England to subscribe to her creed. Kindred Societies.

Prince Rupert, B. C.,

Dear Sir:

Your Hanson Hot Water Coil has been in our range for just one year, and in all this time it has been 100 per cent plus efficient. I use the "plus" advisedly for not only has the coil provided an abundance of not warm but HOT water at all times, but by placing the forty-gallon tank in our large ten by ten bathroom it has kept it cosy in the coldest

Although our range is small, Mrs. Young informs me The program was one of the Labor had obeyed the call to the she cannot see that the baking qualities are affected in the least by the coil.

In your perfection of a modern household necessity, I congratulate you. Sincerely, (Signed) R. B. YOUNG.
