WILLIAM HOHENZOLLERN WILL BE TRIED FOR A SUPREME OFFENSE AGAINST INTERNATIONAL MORALITY

Peace Conference in Session to-day Expects to Complete work this Week; Germany's Merchant Fleet will be Swept from the Seas by Treaty.

(Special to The News via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

Paris, April 28.—The Peace Conference meets in plenary session today to vote on the revised League of Nations. President Wilson expected to make a brief speech, probably touching on the new article protecting the Monroe doctrine.

It was stated in French circles last night that the Peace Conference would be ready to present the peace treaty to the Germans on Friday or Saturday of this week. The French idea is that the text of the treaty is nearly complete. The military and naval sections have been finished, with the exception of that dealing with the situation as regards the Kiel Canal and secondary points.

New Articles.

Washington, April 28.—New articles proposed for insertion in the Peace Treaty to be considered at a plenary session of the conference today, the State Department announced, include:

Article One—The Allied and associated powers publicly arraign William the Second of Hohenzollern, formerly German Emperor, not for an offense against criminal law, but for the supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties. It is proposed that a special tribunal be constituted to try the accused, consisting of five judges, one appointed by each of the great powers, Great Britain, France, United States, Italy and Japan. The Allied and associated powers will request Holland to surrender the former Emperor for trial.

Law Violators to Be Tried.

Persons accused of violation of laws and customs of war, according to the second proposed article, will be brought before military tribunals, and if found guilty, sentenced to punishments laid down by military law.

All persons accused of having committed an act in violation of laws and customs of war, who are specified either by name or rank, office or employment which they held under German authority, will be demanded of the German Government for trial before the military tribunal of the power against whose nationals the criminal acts were perpetrated.

Paris, April, 28.—Germany's great merchant fleet will be practically swept from the seas, under the terms of the economic section of the Peace Treaty. This involved a feature of the treaty which establishes post war commercial relations between Germany and the associated powers, is the first to be entirely completed. It was submitted to the "Big Three" late yesterday and approved.

LABOR TROUBLE AT PRINCETON

Attorney General Asked to Send
Additional Police for Protection
Of Life and Property.

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

Victoria, April 28.—Insistent appeals from Princeton poured into the attorney general's department Saturday demanding that additional police assistance be sent immediately for the protection of life and property. A grave situation has developed out of the labor dispute, and the seat of trouble rests with four score enemy aliens and a detachment of deported undesirables who left Seattle hurriedly at the time of the shipyard strike.

Incendiarism and molestation of the women folk of the community is charged in messages received.

It was decided to send a detachment of mounted police to the scene immediately. The attorney general issued instructions to the superintendent of provincial police to augment his force already on the spot.

Soldiers Wreck Real Estate Offices and Restaurant—Further Trouble is Feared.

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

Prince George, April 28.—Returned soldiers last night wrecked real estate offices of Max Schenk and Conrad Reinharz, Germans, also the Arcade Restaurant, owned by Joe Tadin, a foreigner, accused by the soldiers of making seditious remarks.

Resentment against Germans here is strong and further trouble is feared. Eight or ten alien enemies have been given notice to leave the district at a few hours' warning.

There seems to have been an error in connection with the use of the name of T. W. Watson, ticket agent and cashier for the C. P. R. at Prince George who was mentioned as leaving that town in connection with the recent riots. Mr. Watson was holding the position while the agent was away at the front, and he is now leaving to allow the returned soldier to return to his position.

LARGE CROWD HEARD JACK KAVANAGH DISCUSS MERITS OF THE ONE BIG UNION

VANCOUVER LABOR LEADER OUTLINES CONDITIONS THAT LED TO POLICY—WOULD ELIMINATE PROFIT BY MEANS OF SIX- HOUR DAY

The admission that the formation of One Big Union is for the purpose of enforcing a six-hour day and eliminating profits which would make it impossible for industry to continue, was the most important feature of the meeting held last night in the Westholme Theatre. "We are not bothering about employers," was the answer Jack Kavanagh gave to a questioner at the close of the meeting. He admitted that what he proposed would eliminate profit and of course that would make it impossible for work to continue as profit is the salary the employer gets for his part of the work.

The meeting was large, orderly and enthusiastic. Jack Kavanagh the speaker of the evening, gave an interesting outline of his scheme for the prevention of a calamity which he thought he foresaw. He spoke well and knew his subject like a book and was ready with answers to all questions. Alderman Casey presided, and introduced the speaker as the president of the British Columbia Federation of Labor.

The Address.

Mr. Kavanagh drew attention to what occurred shortly before war broke out when there were bread lines in Vancouver with four to five thousand men being just kept from starving. The condition was general throughout the country. The outbreak of war did not at first have any effect but gradually as men were withdrawn and supplies needed, production was speeded up and the workers produced fourfold over what they did in 1914.

Men were forced to strike in order to get wages raised to keep pace with the increasing cost of living, but every time they struck the capitalistic press came out and stated that they were striking to aid the enemy, not realizing that they needed more money to live.

Toward the close of the war there were 45,000,000 people destroying or manufacturing material for destruction. The mass of these had been taken from industry. All these were fed and clothed in addition to the parasites who lived on others. The declaration of peace found a condition that they could not solve.

Reason for Change.

Mr. Kavanagh said that history had shown that the workers in defeated countries were better off than those in the countries which won, because the indemnity was paid in gold or commodities and in defeated countries the commodities had to be produced. He realized that there was no desire in this country to go back to the bread line condition and the men who had fought were not prepared to starve. This was the reason for the demand for the forming of an industrial organization at Calgary. There was but one dissenting voice, the man that voted against it being Nixon, of Calgary, who represented the shipbuilding trades. No one spoke against the principle although there were some who found court.
