THEY TAKE IT IN ON THEIR BACKS

One of our men was on a fishing trip to a lake about twenty miles from a railway. They discovered a surveyor's camp where a party of engineers are engaged in running lines through some timber tracts.

Nailed to trees and against their backs were empty milk cases used to hold all sorts of things.

The chief of the party said that the men would not have any milk but Pacific and pointed to the empty cases to show how much they use.

All their cooking is done with it and they certainly do live well.
