THE LARGEST BEAR KILLED IN ALASKA

Head of Monster Weighed 40 lbs.
and Skin 150 lbs.—Length
Was 13 feet.

Dr. W. H. Chase of Cordova recently killed what he believes to be the largest bear ever killed in Alaska. Its skin measured 13 feet in length, and weighed 150 lbs. The head weighed 40 pounds, and it is estimated that the bear weighed 1,800 pounds. It was 26 inches from the tip of the ear to the tip of the nose, and 18 inches from ear to ear. Dr. Chase killed the bear with two shots from a .401 Winchester, the second and fatal shot being fired at a distance of 20 feet and struck the big animal, which was coming for him, exactly between the eyes.

People are wondering now whether or not Dr. Chase has killed the "big Hinchinbrook Island bear." For years the tracks of an immense bear have been seen from time to time on that Island, and many hunting parties have been organized to go out and get the animal. It is a pet story at Cordova that these parties, after seeing the tracks of the bear decided that they did not want to get any closer to him, and returned by the shortest possible route to their homes. Dr. Chase's big bear was killed on Hinchinbrook Island.
