BEAUTIFUL CHINESE PLAY AT WESTHOLME

Norma Talmadge, the Beautiful, in Charming Story of China, Delights Audience.

One of the most delightful of photoplays was screened at the Westholme Theatre last evening, when Norma Talmadge appeared in "The Forbidden City." This is a tale of China, before the days of the republic, when his celestial serenity held court at Peking and worshipped his ancestors. The settings are gorgeous and in detail practically faultless. Norma Talmadge takes the dual roles of San San who dies, and of Toy, who lives, and in both roles is delightful. To see the Chinese girls make love to the white foreigners is charming. With the exception of one tragic scene, "the hall of flashing spears," the whole play is most pleasing and is one of the most finished productions which have yet reached here. It will be repeated again this evening, and those who did not see this fine play last night could hardly do better than take it in tonight. The program is completed by another episode of "The Lightning Raider," which clears up the suspense in which the audience was left last week, but leaves them in just as much again.

SPORTS PROGRAM FOR DOMINION DAY

According to the posters which are scattered around the city regarding the sports on the Dominion Day celebration on July 1, the attractions this year are to surpass by far those of the few years preceding. During the years since 1914, of course, the young men of the city of athletic tastes have been much reduced in number, most of them being occupied in working for the nation in other places. Now, however, that many of them are back again, and more coming every week, from the army, it is expected that this year there will be keen contests in the various events on the program.

So far as sports are concerned the days is fairly well filled up, and there are very few in the city who cannot find some event on Dominion Day in which they are particularly interested.

TERRACE NEWS LETTER

Prospecting down the river in the vicinity of Usk and Terrace has been fairly active this spring although no excitement has been started. Quite a number of old time miners and prospectors are digging around in the hills.

Geo. Edwards, T. Hamer and E. Kirkpatrick, of Terrace, have a group of eight claims on Victory Hill, a mile east of town and on the railway, known as the Oakwood group. This spring a tunnel was run in 30 feet on 36 in. of galena. The ore also carries a little free gold. Samples have been brought to Mr. Willemar to be assayed.

Michaud Bros. who have claims out Lakelse lake way, about 40 miles from town have been bringing in some very fine specimens of molybdenum ore.

FINE SOCIETY PLAY AT EMPRESS TONIGHT

How a Country Girl Holds Her Own and Wins Her Point in Face of Competition of Society Belle.

There are few plays in which Emmy Wehlen is seen to better advantage than that in which she appears at the Empress Theatre tonight. As "The Duchess of Doubt," hailed as a duchess, although in reality a country girl having her first taste of what real money can do, she holds her part to perfection. Visiting a fashionable winter resort, the duchess incog. falls foul of a real society damsel, but manages to hold her own until her money runs done. Then she flees to the city. Through fortunate circumstances however, she manages to beat her rival. The play is followed by a splendid comedy.
