TANK CHASES A GERMAN OFFICER LOCAL MAN COMES FROM SCENE OF FIGHT

Also Officer Chases a Tank Asking To Be Taken Prisoner—Odd Yarns of Prison Camps.

The story was told a little while ago of a tank chasing a dignified Prussian officer down the road in his pyjamas. Now this is another story of a dignified Prussian officer chasing a tank. But with a different purpose in his mind. Quite the contrary. He wanted to surrender, and the tank was too busy to bother about him; so he pursued it, shouting the German for "Hi!" just as if it were a motor omnibus—and, just as if it were a motor omnibus it refused to take any notice of him, and went on its way serenely, to his great indignation. It was most disrespectful of a British tank to treat a high-born Prussian officer so.

More Sensible.
But there was another German officer, perhaps not a Prussian, who was much more sensible about the whole business. He was seen wandering about the battlefield with a little black bag in his hand, and, as he seemed harmless, a patrol approached him and asked him what he was doing. In good English he begged to be directed to the nearest Prisoners' Rest, and explained that he had brought his week end luggage with him.

A third officer, of the 244th Division, had a different experience. He had ordered his men to attack, but they refused. Having threatened without effect, he drew his revolver and shot ten of them

The special dispatches to The News yesterday told of the taking by the British of the junction of the Hedjas Railway and the line from Beyrout. This town which was not named in the dispatches is Zable. It is in Syria in the province of Mount Lebanon and is about half way between Damascus and Beyrout.

An interesting thing in connection with this town is that it is the old home of Sam Antous of the Prince Rupert Hotel staff. He says that the town has about ten thousand inhabitants and is in a valley among the mountains. They have good roads, stone houses, and other things which make for modern civilization. The soil in the neighborhood is very fertile and grapes and olives are the chief products. The grapes are mostly exported ripe to Egypt and many of the olives are used for the manufacture of olive oil. There are also rich mines in the district.

Before the war the town was independent, its independence being guaranteed by seven of the great powers. He left there about a year before war broke out, and many of his people are there yet. Naturally he is very anxious to hear from his folks as, during the fighting that is going on, they are in considerable danger, especially in view of the fact that they are like the other inhabitants all strongly pro-Ally.

to encourage the others. But, oddly enough the others were still not discouraged; whereupon, in utter despair as to what a good German should do next, he surrendered.

All these, and many other types of the German army are now in the British cages. Old feuds between Bavarians and Prussians break out behind the wire, and men from Baden talk bitterly of their hopes of a Baden republic after the war. Those of higher rank are not afraid to express their admiration of Foch's strategy; it is only the gentlemen in the German newspapers, far from the battle, who belittle it. But even the newspapers are recognizing slowly that they cannot now win the war. A few more weeks like the last one may convince them that it is even possible for them to lose it.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where a pre-emptor in occupation not less than 5 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, such improvements to $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another permanent residence on land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesteads; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.
The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.
Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchase from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

For information apply to any Provincial Government Agent or to # Say NO!

"You might as well have it," whispers temptation, but your Canadian Patriotism says "No!"

THE tempting suggestions of selfishness meet no response from a patriot.

For he knows that selfishness and self-indulgence are just now the allies of the Hun—they fight on Germany's side against Canada.

When the devil-whisper says "You might as well have it," every true Canadian answers "No!"

Except for the bare necessities of life, we should not be spending five cents a day.

For every expenditure we make on things not absolutely necessary directly affects the fighting strength of Canada and her allies.

The materials that go into the making of things you can do without are needed for our soldiers overseas.

Many of those materials which enter into our unnecessary purchases are brought from other countries and occupy precious space in ships; space sorely needed for those cargoes which can be used for the winning of the war.

The labor that fashions the things we unnecessarily use is labor which could and would be employed to real advantage in the production of war necessities.

Knowing all this, how dare you divert a single unnecessary dollar from your country's war effort!

The shame that must inevitably follow your every self-indulgence, at so grave a time, will be your fitting punishment—if you persist in buying the things you merely want and do not need.

Resist indulgence, cultivate thrift—for thrift is an evidence of patriotism.

And the money you save by thrift will be yours to lend to your country whenever the call comes.

Two Questions

With so many low-priced so-called anti-skids obtainable, would that great host of motorists pay more for Dunlop "Traction" Tread if they could get its merits elsewhere?

Also, would that other large list of car owners buy "SPECIAL" if tires which somewhat resemble it in appearance resembled it in efficiency?
