

ELSIE FERGUSON AT THE WESTHOLME

Beautiful and Talented Actress to
Be Seen Here Tonight in
"The Doll's House."

Distinguished for her beauty and her remarkable talents as an actress, Elsie Ferguson has within the few months since she became a motion picture star, gained enviable and deserved popularity. Her artistry has found suitable expression in such Art-craft pictures as "Barbary Sheep," "Rose of the World," "The Song of Songs," "The Rise of Jennie Cushing," and "The Lie." Each successive release served to accentuate her fame as the portrayer of subtle characterizations of such rich attainments as are possessed by few actresses of the day. In Henrik Ibsen's famous masterpiece, "A Doll's House," Miss Ferguson portrays an exceedingly difficult role, that of a doll wife, lacking initiative, but who, by the force of circumstances, finally develops unusual strength of character. The role is one that taxes Miss Ferguson's skill to the utmost, but she has been equal to its requirements, the result being a portrayal that will enhance both her fame and popularity.

Elsie Ferguson will be seen at the Westholme Theatre tonight.

MINERS' DELEGATE FROM ANYOX SAYS NO STRIKE THERE

That the Granby copper mines will not be in working order for at least two months was the statement made today by J. J. Ellis, delegate for the Miners' Union at that town, who is in the city today, says the Vancouver Province. The mine has been closed down since the fire on March 2 and about 1200 men left Anyox to find work elsewhere. About 500 men who have families in the town are still there and are now at work repairing the buildings, he said.

Mr. Ellis stated that there were rumors to the effect that the miners at Anyox had gone on strike when the wage reduction was made and that the mine was now being run by "scab" workers. There was absolutely no truth in it, he said, and the mines were quite "fair." Some time ago a strike vote was taken but failed to get the two-thirds majority and the reduction was consequently accepted.

Mr. Ellis is on his way to New York where he will undergo an operation.

WITH CORKS

The following is from "Songs of Queen Charlotte Islands, by D. E. Hatt:

You'd take him for a clumsy guy
When he goes slowly ambling by
Lifting his feet up good and high

In your New Yorks.

But sixxling yellow pollywogs,
When it is raining cats and dogs

You ought to see him on the logs

With Corks.

At dinner time he takes his grub,

As if he had it in a tub,
And uses fingers, the poor dub,
Instead of forks.

But whistling dustpan and broom

Keep back and give him lots of room.

When he jumps out upon the boom

With corks.

He'd rather face the wildest strife

Than lead a soft domestic life

And maybe, storks.

But fourteen black fox-trotting crows

Let's bring this jingle to a close

Or he'll be jumping in your toes

With corks.
