Luke McLuke
Told Last Joke.

Luke McLuke, the man who wrote a daily column of jibes and jests for the newspapers, has spun his last yarn. The feature was published by a large number of newspapers. This paper did not use it but now and then the Man in the Moon stole a joke for the edification and amusement of Prince Rupert readers. His column always had something in it to interest even the most sedate.

Luke tore the veneer from things and showed them in their true light. He often jeered at the girls and then again at the men. Old and young got their share. If he is gone to heaven he is probably making remarks about the angels. Should he be below he is telling Satan how he should wear his horns or asking why he does not pare his hoofs.

A few days before he died Luke wrote "If you could live your life over again, we'll bet that you would want to skip a lot of it."

Why Kill Eagles to Save a Few Fish.

There is a bounty of a dollar each on eagles. For years it was suggested that a bounty should be put on these birds but without success. Now everyone who takes one to the proper government official may receive a dollar for killing it.

The eagle lives on fish sometimes. In some places the bird is protected by the state, but here the powers see no good in it. Even if it takes a few fish, so do many other birds and so do many animals. Why kill it? It has taken many an eon to develop the eagle and now we want to destroy it. Some people would destroy all the trout because they eat the eggs and fry of the salmon. There are always people who would kill any living thing that did not make them money.

If only from an artistic point of view the eagle should be allowed to live. What is finer than to see the magnificent bird soaring in the air or hovering over its prey. Watch it chase the fish hawk and take the fresh caught fish from its claws. Kill it? No. Give the bird a chance. It has as much right to life as have we. If it eats fish, so do we. If it kills rats and mice, so do we. Give the fine creature a chance. The world is big enough for us all.

What to do
On Dull Nights.

There are in Prince Rupert dozens and possibly hundreds of men and women who are away from home. Many of them have nowhere to go to spend an evening except to the picture shows or clubs and they cannot go there every night. It becomes monotonous. It is this monotony that often drives men to do things which, under normal circumstances, their better judgment would guard them against. The same condition sends girls to places which, under other circumstances, they might consider questionable.

The desire for activity is strong in all normal people. Young people always want to be doing things. In Prince Rupert there is a lack of clear amusement and recreation for the dull evenings when outdoor life is not attractive.

Library Would Help Fill Need.

A public library is needed today worse than ever it was, and there has always been a need for such an institution. Nearly a year ago those interested held a meeting and decided to try to secure a Carnegie Library for the city. This they failed to get. Perhaps this coming fall some other steps may be taken with a view to filling the need. A public library would educate and entertain many. It might be started in a small way and gradually build up. That is the course we have advocated from the first. At any cost we want a library and it is a standing disgrace to the city that it has long been without one.

HER CASE SEEMED HOPELESS*But "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Health and Strength*OCEAN FALLS IS GOOD TOWN

Residents Seem Happy and Everything is Peaceful and Prosperous.

By Bert Finch.

OCEAN FALLS, July 5.—Over seven hundred employees are working full time at the Pacific Mills here, a plant of which the province may well be proud of for it exceeds Sturgeon Falls, Spanish River or Sauli Ste. Marie and other big Ontario plants in size and production.

At the present time, the falls are fully in evidence for the dam is overflowing one hundred and fifty tons of water a minute, a fall that has not previously occurred in years.

Ships Loading.

Last week the Admiral Line steamer Admiral Schreeb took away two thousand tons of paper to Portland, Oregon, and the Union Australian steamer Waruna loaded over two thousand tons to Australia and New Zealand. The Canadian Government Merchant Marine steamer Canadian Rover has just completed taking on a cargo of similar size for California. Such shipments as these are continually being sent out and there is usually at least one large ocean vessel here loading.

Rents Low.

Rents here are very low and but $12 to $15 is asked by the company for beautiful five and six-roomed houses. The bungalows have every modern convenience to provide for the comfort of the employees.

One thing noticeable here is the prosperous look of each and every one of the residents. The men, women and children dress well and all look happy and contented.

The large store of the company, managed by H. Barker, does a surprising business. The hotel is always full of travellers, visitors and employees of the mill and it, McAllister, the manager, is most pleasant and up-to-date, in his methods.

Little Disorder.

Very seldom is drunkenness ever seen here and the company has the name of being very strict in its dealings with alcoholic beverages and those who are, in any way, connected with their use or dispensation.

Corporal Clearwater, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, has little opportunity to make arrests for misbehavior and Judge A. Tyson has a rather quiet court.

The streets and sidewalks, all made of plank, are kept in excellent condition and the floats for the smaller boats are very convenient and commodious. The fire apparatus of the town is modern and there is plenty of equipment.

Churches Thrive.

The churches here are doing good work and are filled to the doors every Sunday. The moving picture house, on week nights, puts on up-to-date pictures and the theatre is always well patronized.

There is also a well-equipped hospital but there is little sickness, the most of the patients suffering only from minor injuries received in the woods and on the docks. There are very few accidents in the big mill.

Dr. Quinlan There.

Dr. W. J. Quinlan, who is well known to Prince Rupert people, is post master here. He is ever ready to oblige and has become quite popular with the residents and with visitors to the place.

On the arrival of every big steamer, many tourists crowd off to take snapshots of the mill, the falls, the beautiful wooded mountains and many of these have occasion to meet the genial doctor.

Ocean Falls can be called the town of peace and prosperity for all are seen on every hand.

IMMIGRATION CLAUSE NOT CONTAINED IN JAPANESE-TREATY NOW PROPOSED

Premier Meighen, through Secretary, Wires City Council to This Effect.

In reply to the cable from this city sent to Premier Meighen as a result of a resolution passed at last week's meeting protesting against the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty on the grounds of immigration, there was a cable read at last night's meeting from the premier's private secretary intimating that the present proposed pact had nothing to do with immigration matters. The agreement with Japan over immigration does not expire until 1923, it was stated in the cable.

 PRINCE RUPERT TIDES ***

Tuesday, July 5.
High—0:44 a.m., 22.5 feet.
13:37 p.m., 20.0 feet.
Low—7:24 a.m., 1.0 feet.
19:28 p.m., 5.7 feet.

Wednesday, July 6.
High—1:31 a.m., 22.8 feet.
14:21 p.m., 20.5 feet.
Low—8:07 a.m., 0.5 feet.
20:16 p.m., 5.2 feet.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.
