HOW GERMANY WILL RAISE REVENUE FOR REPARATIONS TAXES

The German Government has before it a big task in raising money to meet the reparations payments. The following is an outline of the plan laid down for securing the necessary cash:

1. Increase of sugar tax from 14 to 100 marks per 100 kilograms.
2. Sweetstuff taxation.
3. Brandy monopoly bill; duty to be raised from 800 to at least 4,000 marks per hectolitre.
4. Certain increased taxes on illuminants to be quadrupled, on matches and mineral waters doubled, on beer quadrupled.
5. Increased duties on bananas, coffee, tea, spices, cocoa, chocolate and a number of essentials or luxury articles.
6. Increase of coal tax from 20 per cent to 30 per cent of value.
7. A bill on racing bets.
8. Considerable increase of tax on automobiles, including goods lorries.
9. Increased taxes on fire and life insurance premiums.
10. Tax on turnover to be doubled.
11. Corporation tax to be 30 per cent of taxable income.
12. Tax on movements of capital, including formation of share companies, Stock Exchange transactions, &c.
13. Tax on fortunes to be revised to capture profits made by the depreciation of the mark, and secure proportionate taxation of landed and other property which does not fall in value as the mark falls.
14. Tax on increase in fortunes.
15. Tax, varying from 5 to 30 per cent, on increase in fortunes since the end of the war.

MACK SENNETT'S IDEA OF MARRIED LIFE IS SEEN AT WESTHOLME

"Married Life" is the offering tonight at the Westholme Theatre, produced by Mack Sennett, the man who has wrinkled the face of the world with laughter. This is a five-reel comedy feature.

According to the advance notices the picture is the biggest and best, the funniest and most thrilling that the Sennett studios have ever turned out.

Everyone knows about Mack Sennett's girls and about Turpin, the funny man whose eyes are said to be two "slightly damaged windows to his soul." The advice given by the management this time is to lock up your mother-in-law and take your wife to see Sennett's idea of married life.

There may be something new in it. See the standard edition.

SHACKLETON'S GREAT WORK MAPPED OUT

Will Explore Petrified Forest and Seek Lost Island in South.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The voyage of The Quest, the quaint little 200-ton ship which is carrying Sir Ernest Shackleton and his party of frozen mysteries in South Polar Seas, has for its objective not only oceanographic research but the exploration of a petrified forest and the location of a "lost" island—Tuanaki—the adjacent waters of which have not been sailed for more than 90 years. In addition, soundings will be taken of the ocean plateau surrounding Gough's Island in an effort to determine the truth regarding a supposed underwater continental connection between Africa and America.

Nineteen persons, representing each of the British self-governing dominions, are expected to be aboard when the tiny but staunch craft, "built for tight corners," leaves Capetown, South Africa, for two years' of buffeting its way through the Antarctic ice.

Built for Purpose.
The Quest uses both sail and steam, and which may cover more than 30,000 miles before it returns home, was constructed according to the personal ideas of Shackleton who, has made several voyages to the Antarctic. He commanded the British expedition of 1907-09, which reached within 97 miles of the South Pole and also the expedition of 1914-15 to Weddell Sea. His present ship is 111 feet long, 25 foot beam and 12 feet in depth. She was built in Norway in 1917 of oak, pine and spruce and has been tested in heavy ice. Her sides are two feet thick and her bows are of solid oak sheathed with steel. Her steaming radius is 9,000 miles and, under sail, in a stiff breeze The Quest can make eight knots. She carries wireless equipment and an airplane, with a 25-foot wing spread. She has a glass-enclosed bridge and a lookout that resembles a flour barrel.

Aviator-Photographer

Major C. R. Carr, an English soldier of fortune, the aviator of the expedition, plans to fly above the Antarctic fogs to scout out passages between the floes through which The Quest may pass. He is also the photographer and naturalist of the expedition. The bi-plane he will use is one of only three that were ever built. The other two were flown, respectively, by Colonel Borten, V.C., the pioneer flyer from England to Mesopotamia and by Sir Ross Smith, the first man to fly from England to Australia.

Other members of the Shackleton party, besides those already mentioned, include Frank Eild, second in command; Frank Worsley, commander; Major A. H. Macklin, biologist; R. Stenhouse, lieutenant commander; Captain L. Hussey, meteorologist; J. S. W. Marr and N. E. Mooney, cabin boys.

Petrified Forest.
The petrified forest that will be explored was found by Shackleton on the island of Trinidad at a certain point where he landed from Captain Robert F. Scott's ship, the Discovery, more than 12 years ago. Gough Island is eight miles long and 4,000 feet high and in 1904, when visited for the first time on record by members of the Bruce expedition, was found to have at least four hitherto unclassified species of birds, Tuanki, the "lost" island, has been mentioned in old nautical records, but apparently has disappeared. A spot in the Pacific where it is supposed to be will be dredged for evidence to show that it is recently submerged land.

Cope Expedition.
There is already in the South Polar regions, another British expedition. It is led by Commander John L. Cope, who left Norfolk, Va., on October 27, 1920, for a six years' journey in the ice fields. The party is aboard a 7,000-ton whaler, the Thor, L., and three auxiliary ships and numbers more than 100 men. One of its purposes is the commercial development of the min-

IONA ROBERTSON IN SONG AND STORY EMPRESS TONIGHT

Miss Iona Robertson, a very noted Highland musical and dramatic artist, has arrived in the city, and will be giving one of her unique entertainments to-night at the Empress Theatre. She has appeared in several of the world's largest cities as a singer and dramatic reciter, with unusual success, one of her latest triumphs being in the city of Boston, where an audience of four thousand people gave her a great ovation. All the leading papers in the Old Country describe her as a most brilliant elocutionist and accomplished singer. She is considered unique as an exponent of Gaelic songs, Scotch melodies, Selection poems and certain dramatic services demanding exceptional histrionic talent and personal magnetism. She was "discovered" by the Duke of Argyll and was selected by London Argylshire Association as their special emissary to Canada to raise funds for rescuing and preserving the old Gaelic and Scotch music.

BAND CONCERT LAST NIGHT IN WESTHOLME

Greenville Band, Winners in Fair Contest, Performed Before Fair-sized Crowd.

The Greenville Band gave a concert last evening in the Westholme Theatre. There was a fairly good attendance and the numbers were thoroughly enjoyed. H. Pattinson was the chairman and George Munro, president of the Northern B. C. Agricultural and Industrial Association, assisted in the arrangements.

The program rendered was as follows: Boston Commandery March, Martha Selection, Faust Selection, Till We Meet Again, Zampa Overture and National Emblem March. In the numbers Faust and Boston Commandery March, which were the contest pieces, H. C. Peyton, trainer, was conductor, while the native leader conducted the other items.

The hall was donated for the occasion by the Westholme Theatre management.

It Never Goes Dry

From an up-Coast bay comes a letter from Mrs. J. Hobson, who is the proud discoverer of a new reason for using Pacific Milk. "I got milk from my neighbor's cows," said she, "but we were always being told that they had gone dry. And the cow's milk looked like water after Pacific Milk, so back I went to Pacific."
