Publicity in British Journals.

Just recently British Columbia has been receiving a good deal of valuable publicity through the medium of various Old Country illustrated journals. Through the courtesy of the Agent General for British Columbia at London several of these publications have been forwarded to the Daily News office with the sections of British Columbia interest marked. The Furniture Record and the Furnisher, a trade journal, carries in a recent issue an article on timber in the province; "The Fruit Grower" has an article on fruit growing; "Canada," an article entitled "Progress in British Columbia," which tells of the various industries, mining, farming, fishing and timbering as well as foreign trade and construction work; "The Field," another essay on fruit growing, and the "London Graphic," a profusely illustrated write-up on fishing. Some of these have been put before the British eye through the officers of the Agent General and they show the good work that is thus being conducted in a publicity way. There is one criticism that may be made, however, and that is that some of the articles would lead readers to believe that the cities of the south are the centres for all the industries. Especially would this criticism apply to the last mentioned article, that on fishing. In the descriptions in "The Graphic" Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster are prominently mentioned and nothing is said of Prince Rupert, which is the most important fishing port on the coast. A suggestion to the Agent General emanating from the public and semi-public organizations of the city that an endeavor be made in future to give Prince Rupert its proper place in such publicity matter might not come amiss. Prince Rupert wishes no undue prominence but it is only fair that it receive what is coming to it in this regard. Fishing, especially in this province, cannot be told of accurately without referring to Prince Rupert.

Ireland and Martial Law.

Ireland is now practically under martial law. The decision of the British Government to police the country by means of the army puts it in that status. Horrors have been so frequent of late that the action is absolutely necessary. The placing of a country under this form of police is for the purpose of restoring order but Ireland could be under martial law for a hundred years and it would avail nothing if the officers and men of the army do not conduct themselves in an exemplary and fair manner. The Irish people are a proud and unforgiving race and this characteristic in them must be met with tact and prudence. The Irishman will not take one slap and turn the other cheek for a second. Instead he will get revenge for the slap on the one cheek by attempting to slap both of the offender's. Therefore it will depend largely on the manner in which the army handles the present situation whether or not a state of order and peace will be restored. The order prohibiting reprisals will apply alike to the militia, Sinn Fein and other factions in Ireland.

The proper punishment for vengeful acts will be the penalizing of the individuals responsible for them after careful investigation has been made, not the wholesale looting of buildings and slaughter of people generally. The conduct of the soldiers will have to be carefully watched and the loose murderous and barbarous members of the army will have to be eradicated. The unfair act of one of these will be met with two similar acts in Ireland and as long as the military commits such acts there will be no hope of complete order. While it is an army that is now policing Ireland, that army will have to be governed by the rules of order and fair police work rather than by the common rules of warfare because it is a civil garrison which is nothing more than an openly armed police force ready to meet with contingencies in a country where disturbances are to be expected. Such an army's fighting is never offensive but always defensive—not only itself but more of law and order.

Years of Suffering Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

112 HAZEN ST., ST. JOHN, N. B.
"It is with pleasure that I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicine 'Fruit-a-tives', made from fruit juices. I was a great sufferer for many years from Nervous Headaches and Constipation. I tried everything, consulted doctors; but nothing seemed to help me until I tried 'Fruit-a-tives'."

After taking several boxes, I was completely relieved of these troubles and have been unusually well ever since". Miss ANNIE WARD.

EXCURSIONISTS ON WAY SOUTH

Vancouver Board of Trade Visitors Saw Anyox, Stewart and Hyder.

Highly enthusiastic after a visit which was successful and enjoyable in every respect, the Vancouver Board of Trade excursionists left Prince Rupert at midnight last night on their return south. On the way they will call at Swanson Bay and Ocean Falls and are due back in Vancouver tomorrow evening.

Leaving here at midnight on Friday, the Prince George reached Anyox at 7 o'clock on Saturday morning. The party visited the smelter en masse and some went to the mine and the coke plant. They were received with courtesy by the Granby officials who showed them all the points of interests at the smelter town.

At Stewart.

At noon, the party left Anyox and after a cold afternoon's sail down Observatory Inlet and around Point Ramsden into Portland Canal, Stewart was reached at 7 in the evening. A welcoming committee from the Citizens' Association was on hand when the steamer arrived and the excursionists were heartily greeted, and were taken up town in autos, rigs and horses provided by the town folk for the occasion. The first event on the program was a meeting of the Citizens' Association to which J. P. D. Malkin, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, R. Ker-Foulgate, vice-president, W. R. Payne, commissioner and Bruce McKelvie, manager of the "Made in B.C." campaign, were specially invited. Here the needs of the district for roads, trails and bridges were set out and their assistance requested in the obtaining of moneys from the provincial government.

Following this there was a big dance under the auspices of the citizens' Association and then many of the party went over to Hyder where another dance under the Pioneers of Alaska was in progress. The Prince George did not leave until 6 o'clock in the morning and there was entertainment provided by the hospitable Stewart and Hyder citizens right up to the time of departure. At both places the decorations and beautiful refreshments demonstrated that the people had gone to a great deal of trouble in providing a reception for their visitors.

Looked Promising.

Stewart looked especially promising to the Vancouverites. Many expressed their great confidence in the future of the place due to the Premier Mine and its high grade ore which would be mined for many years. One especially enthusiastic member of the party made the prediction while here last night that Stewart would have a population of 30,000 in four or five years because of the vast mineral resources of the various valleys tributary to the town.

After a beautiful trip down the Canal the Prince George reached here again at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The members of the party were kept busy meeting various newly made friends here. Some went to church and many just walked about the whole summery evening. All declared that the trip had been a most beneficial one and regretted that it had to end so soon.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

The stretch of Third Avenue from Seventh Street to Fulton street is to be macadamized. Already the rock crusher, ordered in Vancouver is on its way, and by the time it arrives, Third avenue, at this point will be ready for it. Second avenue is not to be done yet.

Nick Vessovich, the second of the strikers on trial in Vancouver for the Kelly's cut incident, has been acquitted according to a telegram received in the city last night. Jura Vuckavitch, the first man to face trial was acquitted also.

Gus Carlson, a Swede brought into the city last night from the vicinity of Mile 90, seriously injured about the chest. He was crushed by a tree he was felling.

PRINCE RUPERT TIDES

Monday, June 13.
High—7:29 a.m., 17.0 feet.
20:13 p.m., 18.8 feet.
Low—1:20 a.m., 7.4 feet.
13:31 p.m., 6.4 feet.
Tuesday, June 14.
High—8:44 a.m., 16.4 feet.
21:12 p.m., 19.0 feet.
Low—2:37 a.m., 6.9 feet.
14:36 p.m., 7.3 feet.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.
