Perry said that the matter had been left over pending the matter of supplying power to Digby Island being settled. He would, however, give it immediate attention.

Nervous Breakdown
Couldn't Sleep Nights.

To those on the verge of a nervous breakdown the following symptoms present themselves: nervous headaches, a feeling of depression, fitful, disturbed, restless and unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with frightful dreams, avoidance of crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, etc.

"When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected, too, and on the first signs of any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown do not wait until your case becomes hopeless, but get a remedy that will at once quieten the nerves, strengthen the heart and build up the entire system.

This you will find in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. M. Damgand, Young's Cove Road, N. B., writes:—"I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves; had nervous headaches and dizziness, could not sleep at nights, and my appetite was all gone. I was on a nervous breakdown when a neighbor told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This I did, and before I had the second box used I was better and would advise anyone who has nerve trouble to take them."

AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHT LAUGHS

All the world likes good humor no matter where you chance to roam. Everyone wants to be cheerful and healthful, here or far away from home. Papers all print jolly pokes, jingles and other kinds of lively fun. This humor is penned by scores of column conductors who poetize, joke and pun. It is not in the magazines and newspapers alone that good press wit is seen; now for over three years the "Topics of the Day" Films have shown it on the screen. You can see this happy reel at nearly every good film show; in the hamlet, town and city—in fact, where'er you go. Jules Verne wrote of a trip 'round the world in eighty days, or more or less. Well here we offer a trip in eight world-wide laughs—good ones or we miss our guess:

Barnyard or Broadway.

Archie (absent-minded newlywed at store)—I can't remember what I was sent for—a casserole or a camisole.

Clerk (giggling)—Is the chicken dead or alive?—Vaudeville News.

* * *

Plays Safe.

Stage Hand—I'd you say you wanted a window or a widow?

Show Manager—I said window, but they're both much alike. When I get near either of them I always look out.—Japan Advertiser.

* * *

He Knew Girls.

May—Meet you tomorrow night, usual place, seven o'clock.

Ray—Right. What time will you be there?—Sidney Herald.

* * *

Improbable.

Old gentleman (to street gamin)—How old are you little boy?

Hansel—Five years, sir.

Old gentlemen—You must be mistaken. You couldn't get that dirty in five years.—Klod Hans.

* * *

Shocking!

Hello Girl—Some of the things said over the wire are not fit for me to hear.

Lineman—Aw, you can't expect to work around electricity and not get shocked.—London Telegraph.

* * *

To Be Decided.

Kindly Stranger (to pedestrian knocked down by motor)—Are you hurt?

Pedestrain—I don't know, I haven't seen my lawyer yet.—La Rire.

* * *

Prophet Without Honor.

"Have you ever met your ideal man?" simpered a young maiden.

"I met him two years ago," returned the lady novelist.

"And is he still your ideal man?"

"By no means" returned teh novelist. "He's my husband now."

* * *

Safety Worst.

Nervous old lady—Will this train stop at the terminal?

Conductor—I hope so, or there'll be an awful smash if she doesn't.—Winnipeg Tribune.

The city council last night adopted a report of the Finance Committee recommending that the final payment of $300, completing the annual grant of $1000 to the Board of Trade be paid. Ald. Kelly wanted to know if the Board made a formal statement of activities to the city.

HELIGOLAND FORTS TOTALLY DESTROYED

Nothing Taken For Granted by Allied Commission in Charge There.

HAMBURG, Nov. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—Heligoland as a German fortress has been wiped out under the supervision of the Inter-Allied Commission, and little remains today of the once powerful fort. The work of demolition has been going on for two years, and while not entirely completed yet the Commission, of which Admiral Sir Edward Charlton is the head, is said to be satisfied that the island of Heligoland never again can be a menace to the Allies. What little is left of the harbor, including the land reclaimed from the sea by Germany, it is expected will be gradually destroyed by the North Sea.

The work yet to be done in the demolition of the fortress is expected to be completed next April. Then a final inspection will be made by the Commission, and it is expected that Heligoland will then be handed back to Germany, under the provisions of the Peace Treaty. The Commission has withdrawn the officers in control of the work of demolition, and the remainder of the undertaking has been left in German hands. Quarterly visits will be paid to the work by the Commission until it is entirely completed.

The Commission has left nothing to be taken from granted, even though the German authorities have aided, rather than hampered, the progress of the work. Naval officers have seen the great guns cut into pieces. In the destruction of cartridges, cases, fuses, etc., they have always insisted upon the production of the scrap metal, while in the destruction of the vast stores of explosives where there is no residue to produce as evidence, they have personally watched the burnings. Admiral Charlton is said to be satisfied that very little in the way of warlike stores can have been concealed.

Besides the destruction of guns at Heligoland, gun emplacements and harbor works, on the island have been broken up. In addition to guns, many of which were very large, batteries of howitzers and aircraft guns have been demolished.

In order to make certain that Heligoland can not be utilized again as a site upon which to build a harbor for warships the Commission has placed blocks of stone and concrete about the bed of the harbor so that dredging will not be possible.

Ald. Kelly suggested at last night's council meeting that it was now time for the city to consider the matter of providing relief employment during the winter. The mayor replied that the proposal of the federal government for assisting had been found to be of no use here and more information was being waited for before anything definite was undertaken.
