Protect Fisheries of the Coast.

W. A. Found, assistant deputy minister of fisheries, is on his way to the coast to endeavor to negotiate with the fisheries department of the state of Washington for the preservation of the fisheries in which both Washington and British Columbia are interested. It is probable the same matter will be taken up with the territorial government of Alaska prior to dealing with the federal government at Washington.

There is evident now a desire on the part of the Americans to have the fish preserved in the Canadian rivers near the boundary. The American fishermen get the largest return from these fisheries, especially from that of the Fraser River. The Naps fisheries are endangered by neglect to arrive at an agreement between the two countries to protect the salmon on the way to the spawning grounds. The fish pass close to the Alaskan coast before proceeding to the river. The traps and nets take too heavy a toll on them before they reach Canadian waters.

There should be no difficulty in arriving at an agreement which would be satisfactory to each side. Mr. Found is about to go into the matter, and he will receive the support of all British Columbians if he can persuade the people of Alaska and Washington state that it is to their interest as well as ours that the fish of the Fraser and Naas rivers be protected.

Should Go Slowly With School Fads.

There is rather much of a tendency to introduce all kinds of new things into the schools. Residents have asked The Daily News to voice the sentiments of some of them in this regard. They urge that a sound public school education should be the first duty of the school board, and that the ordinary high school course should be the next demand. Anything beyond that is not for the benefit of the whole community but of a select few. That is the view held by a large part of the community.

On the other hand, this paper takes the view that it is for the benefit of the community to have some of the young people educated in the higher branches and that they should attend the university. The only difficulty about the university is that often the young people come home feeling that they are now in a different class to those who remained at home and who paid a large part of the cost of educating those who attended the institution. There has been a tendency for the university to make young people snobs instead of training them in democracy. This is not true in a great many cases but in others it is unfortunately only too true. If the community pays for the higher education of a few young people, the community resents the idea of those young people returning home and putting on an air of superiority over those who paid for their education. There have been parents who so educated their children and then the children became ashamed of the parents who deprived themselves in order to give them the education.

Kindergarten Proposal.

At the meeting of the school board last night Mrs. Ling proposed the establishment of a kindergarten in this city. It would accommodate children between the ages of four and six. It is a good institution, but whether it is one that the school board should support is for the trustees and behind them the people to decide. Children at six years old are very young to commence their education, and some authorities advocate eight years old as the proper time to commence. Kindergarten work up to eight years is advocated. In fact the whole of the junior school should be and is to a large extent a large kindergarten. If it is not, it is straying far from the ideals of modern education. There seems to be a very general view that a kindergarten that attempts to train children at four years of age is simply a glorified nursery, and whether the school is the place for such an institution is a matter of opinion. In a slum district there is no doubt in regard to its desirability, but in a well-to-do community like Prince Rupert there is an opinion abroad that education by the public is scarcely needed prior to the age of six years.

MADAM SLOAT

PERIN JUNCTION, N.B., Jan. 22nd, 1920

"For many years, I was a great sufferer from Indigestion, Constipation and Rheumatism. My stomach was weak and gave me constant distress, while Rheumatism in my joints made me almost a cripple. I was treated by two different doctors but their medicine did me no good.

Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and at once that fruit medicine helped me. Soon the Constipation and Indigestion were relieved and the Rheumatism began to go away, and in a few months entirely disappeared. For twelve years now, my health has been first class, and I attribute it to the use of "Fruit-a-tives" which I take regularly."

The Ratepayers' Association last night decided to oppose the dividing of the city into three wards for aldermanic representation.

The Property Holders' Association has asked the city council for a sewerage system in the vicinity of Hays Creek. They want a complete and not an incomplete scheme. Mayor Manson and the City Engineer were present at the meeting held last night in the Presbyterian Hall.

In the Victoria Week appears a scathing article attacking the firm of which H. S. Clements, M. P., is a member. The article says that the firm is representing a certain lot as the official Hazelton townsite well knowing that it is not so.

RICH IN TATTOO

Weird Description of Man Who Was Wanted in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 9.—A sailor, rich in tattoo marks, has been missing for three years, and his wife, Mrs. P. Davis, sent a description of him recently to the local press which reads as follows:

"Has a large amount of tattooing on his body. His bald head is the Lord's head. Around his neck is a serpent, two angels are holding a Bible on his chest, while the Lord's last supper is tattooed across his stomach. In his back are several hymns, 'Nearer My God to Thee,' 'Abide With Me.' The Lord's Prayer and a crucifix are on his arms and the usual tattooing of a sailor. He deserted the steamer Barranea at Montreal in 1918."

After the publication of the above letter, the Ottawa Journal received the following from M. McNulty of Timmins, Ont.:

"If the lady who was enquiring for the gentleman who had half the Bible tattooed on his body will direct her investigations here she may be able to find some information which may lead to the discovery of her long lost husband."

It is presumed that Mrs. Davis will now investigate the Timmins letter.

BAD AIR AND LIGHTING AT THE BORDEN SCHOOL

Discovery Made by L. W. Patmore and Confirmed by Doctor and Others.

That the air and lighting of the Borden Street school rooms gave the children headaches and was injurious to them was discovered by L. W. Patmore; whose children attend that institution. This was confirmed by a letter from Dr. Tremayne and also by the Principal of the High School and the supervising principal of the public schools. A committee was appointed by the school board last night to install better lights and to take steps to remedy the air and heat disability, the committee to consist of Mr. Patmore, Mrs. Ling, Principals Campbell and Brady and Dr. Tremayne. They will also see to improving the lighting at the High School.

Mr. Patmore in bringing the matter before the board explained how his children had complained of headaches and, unable to find the cause elsewhere, he had gone to Dr. Tremayne who suggested it was the result of eye strain or bad ventilation at the school. The matter had been investigated and a report had been secured from the Doctor as follows:

Doctor's Report.

"It has been brought to my attention that several of the children attending the Borden Street School have been suffering from headaches.

"Two of the chief causes of headache in children are (1) Eye-strain; (2) Lack of Ventilation.

"In visiting the school I found that there was sufficient reason to account for both of these conditions.

"Each school room, big or small and regardless of the amount of window space provided is lighted by four drop lights placed about 2 1/2 feet from the ceiling.

"This is not sufficient light in the large rooms, and I would recommend that there should be two more lights over the desks, and one at the back of the room. The lights should be hung at least two or three feet lower and the size of the lamps used increased.

Ventilation.

"In regard to the ventilation—it would seem that in fine weather and on the North side in most all weathers the windows can be opened and sufficient fresh air admitted. In stormy weather the windows on the South side cannot be opened and the ventilation fan must be depended upon entirely. In the system in use, the fresh air is brought through a shaft from outside to a fan and then driven through a warming chamber before being delivered to the rooms. This in cold weather is in every way satisfactory, but in the milder weather when it is stormy and the windows cannot be opened the air makes the room too hot for comfort. To obviate this Mr. Derry has suggested that a pipe be run from the fan around the warming box and deliver the air without going through that chamber. A couple of valves could be arranged so that the air could be put through the warming process or not as required.

"This seems feasible to me but whether it is or not is a question for a heating engineer. The cost would be very small anyway."

H. E. TREMAYNE.
