Creative Thought.

Every thought unless it is trivial carries with it an associated feeling. When a great thought has revolving round it a glowing emotion there is produced a powerful motive. When the will releases this powerful motive in a definite choice there results energetic action which produces something which never existed before. This is what is meant by creative thought.

In mechanics creative thought produces helpful inventions, in art it produces beautiful pictures, and in morals it produces noble lives.

The scientific way of transforming character is by the re-ewing of the mind. Modern psychology has established beyond dispute this law of the human mind. The life follows the thought. If a man thinks impure thoughts and holds these in his mind, it is only a question of time and opportunity before he becomes unclean in his life.

If a man thinks kind thoughts, noble thoughts, good thoughts and holds these in his mind, he will unconsciously grow like his thoughts—kind and noble and good.

New Thoughts New Life.

Instead of the old thought of selfish regard which has been dominating his life in the past let him put into his mind the new thought of brotherly love as taught by Christ and inspired by His Spirit.

Instead of the old thought of fear and terror which plays such havoc with the soul, let him put into his mind the new thought of trust and hope. Instead of the old thought of envy, hatred, and malice, which will poison any disposition, let him put into his mind the new thought of kindness and goodwill as taught by Christ and inspired by His Spirit. Instead of the old thought of enervating depression and fancied disease let him put into his mind the new thought of invigorating cheerfulness and vitalizing faith in God.

It is by these and such like new thoughts that a man's mind is renewed and his character is transformed. St. Paul says: "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind."

Psychological Law Always Works.

This psychological law is, as constant and as certain in its operation as is the law of gravitation. The life follows the thought. The meaning of the Greek word for repentance is a change of mind. This is something far more vital than a mere sentimental feeling. What we think we become. Thought is creative. Change the mind, and you change the man.

"For three years, I was ill and exhausted and I suffered constantly from kidney trouble and liver disease. My health was miserable and nothing in the way of medicine did me any good. Then I started to use 'Fruit-a-tives' and the effect was remarkable."

I began to improve immediately and this wonderful fruit medicine entirely restored me to health. All the old pains, headaches, indigestion and constipation were relieved and once more I was well.

To all who suffer from Indigestion, Constipation, Rheumatic Pains or great Fatigue, I advise the use of 'Fruit-a-tives'.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

LONDON PAPERS MOSTLY FAVOR ALLIED ACTION

Daily News Opposes, but Times and Post Rejoice at Welding of Entente

LONDON, March 12.—Most of the newspapers approve the allied decision to penalize Germany for refusing to accede to the plan for reparations. The exception was the Daily News, which complained Lloyd George had "brushed aside solid German offers making for a peaceful solution of the situation."

"Mr. Lloyd George," the newspaper continues, "completely capitulated to France. The allied decision was a triumph of the French policy of revenge, and all the sinister implications it contains."

No Justification

The newspaper argued that there was no legal and scant moral justification for the steps projected by the entente and asked why the allies could not have waited a fortnight longer for the result of the Upper Silesian plebiscite. It says three sequels are almost inevitable—Germany will lose the plebiscite, which will still further reduce her paying capacity; the indemnity will become worthless as an economic reality, and Marshal Foch's army will find a "convenient occasion to take over a vast industrial region which France has long coveted."

"The ultimate consequences of this reckless adventure," the newspaper went on, "may be only guessed, but Marshal Foch's advance may soon prove a march to perdition."

Wants Activity Limited

Some misgivings were expressed by the Daily Express which urged that Great Britain limit its participation in military activities to the minimum.

"If this is the beginning of a lengthy campaign requiring widespread preparations and the creation of a great general staff," the newspaper declared, "it will be opposed. British taxpayers cannot support another expensive venture."

The London Times and the Morning Post rejoiced that the conference had produced a "welding of the entente." The Times said the German counter-proposals had been rejected because they were not honest, and that the allies, by occupying German towns, "would have their hands on the taps through which a large amount of German wealth passes, and they will know how to regulate the flow."

The Daily Mail asserted the final speech by Dr. Walter Simons, head of the German delegation, was "impudent and cynical," and that every sentence was an affront.

Even the Laborite Herald, while it called the penalties a sheer colossal folly," said Dr. Simons' speech was "a model of tactlessness and inaptitude." The newspaper consoled itself, however, by asserting: "From a revolutionary viewpoint, the penalties will be all for good, as the end must be a crash from which revolution will arise."
