OCTOR'S DAUGHTER & Zam-Buk

ll-known Salvationist Tells of Mother & Son Saved from Blood-Poison & Disablement.

"cannot speak too highly of this wonderful Zam-Buk," says Jane E. Zealley, an ex-Major of the Salvation Army and ghter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, South Wales.

FREE BOXES! Send 1 cent. (for return postage), mention paper, and Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, will forward Free Trial Sample. Unqualified for eczema, ringworm, sores, piles, etc.

lived upon at her home, 3, Bushness Avenue, Toronto, Mrs. Zealley said: "Eight years ago my boy Alfred cut his leg with the brass tag attached to his lace and blood-poisoning set in. I had used various ointments on the sore, without doing good, when, hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. I can imagine my relief, when, after a few applications of Zam-Buk, I saw that healing had already started. Continued treatment quickly removed every trace of the obstinate sore. It made me realise what pain and suffering I might have saved the boy, had I got Zam-Buk at first.

"When I fell over a steel fender and injured my knee badly, I again used Zam-Buk. My daughter, who was a nurse, thought an operation would be necessary to remove the mass of inflammation and pus, but I hadn't forgotten my previous experience with Zam-Buk. Again regular applications of the balm took out all pain and swelling and healed the wound in a few days. The knee has never given further trouble." Herbal Zam-Buk is 50c. box, all dealers.

JENNINGS IS ABLE LEADER

Hughie Jennings, Assistant Manager of Giants, Given Credit For Success.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A great deal of the credit for bringing the New York Giants successfully through the 1921 pennant campaign is being given to Hughey Jennings, the grass-chewing, jumping jack, who won managerial fame as leader of the Detroit Tigers.

In October of 1920, Jennings signed a contract to serve as assistant manager of the Giants, taking the place made vacant by Johnny Evers, who had been selected to manage the Chicago Cubs. The acquisition of Jennings by the Giants came as a surprise to the fans and it was generally predicted that he would be one of the most able assistants John McGraw ever had.

McGraw on Job.

McGraw in no wise relinquished his job as manager but Hughie began at once to do all the work afield. His "E-yaah" and grass pulling had been seen before at the Polo Grounds but with Hughie as a Giant, the fans took him differently. It was "Atta-boy Hughey" where before it had been "Aw, go and lay down."

The good-natured Jennings soon won favor with the players and his fighting spirit helped them to pull through many tough games. Jennings is considered a great little general and has proved an able second-helmsman.

Manager Fifteen Years.

This is Jennings' 15th year as a leader. He won pennants in the American League with Detroit in 1907, 1908, and 1909. He is not exactly a stranger in the National League, having spent several seasons with teams representing Baltimore, Brooklyn and Philadelphia in the older circuit. He was a comrade of McGraw's on the famous old Oriole aggregation.

Jennings was born at Pittston, Pa., in 1870, and first played professional baseball with the Leighton, Pa., club in 1890. The following year he signed with the Louisville, Ky., club of the American Association playing first base and short. In 1894, he was traded to Baltimore Nationals and four years later was shifted to the Brooklyn Nationals. In 1901, he became manager and captain of the Philadelphia Nationals and two years later returned to the Baltimore, Eastern League club, playing second and short until 1907 when he was drafted by Detroit. He was made manager and won the pennant that year. All of his Detroit teams were regarded as pennant contenders.

Sport Chat

Tonight all basketball fans and players will get together at the annual meeting of the Basketball Association in the city council chamber. Officers for the season will be elected and plans will be formulated governing the conduct of the game. It is expected that there will be a large number of delegates in attendance and that men, boys, ladies and girls will be represented. All suggestions for improvement or for added attractions will be received with pleasure by the meeting and it is advisable that those who are interested in the popular winter sport in any way be present to take part in the proceedings.

The Gray Cup, emblematic of the football championship of Central B. C., has been won this season by Telkwa, the team from the Bulkley Valley town having last Wednesday defeated Hazelton, the former holders, by a score of 4 to 1. Telkwa had formerly defeated Smithers in an elimination game. The last game was a closer one than the score would indicate and was not lacking in interest. High feelings, engendered by the stubbornness of the contest, precipitated several fist fights, which interrupted the game somewhat. Jack Frost, formerly of this city, played goal for Hazelton and is given credit for having made the best showing of the Hazelton players.

The New York National League baseball club, which enters the world's series this year, came into being in 1883 with John B. Day, a patron of the game financing the project. James Mutrie, whose name still lives as the "Father of the Giants" induced Day to back the club after the game had been tried on the old polo grounds, then on Fifth Avenue. All the first players were large in stature and were then named the "Giants" which name has stuck to them ever since. Mutrie was the manager under Day. In 1893 Cornelius Van Cott became president of the club and in 1895 Andrew Freedman purchased it. John W. Ward was manager under Van Cott and Freedman had eleven managers during his regime: George Davis, Jack Doyle, Harvey Watkins, Arthur Irwin, Bill Joyce, Capt. A. C. Anson, John B. Day, Fred Hoey, Buck Ewing, George Smith and Horace Fogel. In 1903 John T. Brush purchased the team and put John J. McGraw in control where he has been ever since. In 1911 Harry Hemstead succeeded his father-in-law, Brush, as owner and in 1919 Charles A. Stoneham, John McGraw and Francis McQuade purchased the controlling stock from the Brush estate. Stoneham now is president.
