Main Issue

Before Electors.

There are still a few people who profess not to understand that voting for Colonel Peck may mean voting to perpetuate the present condition. Until Colonel Peck makes it quite clear that he will vote if necessary to put the Meighen Government out of office, there can be no other interpretation of his action. In his utterances and those of his committee there has been shown no slightest inkling of his possible attitude when he gets to Ottawa, except that he will do as he likes.

Is it fair to the voters of this constituency to ask them to vote for a man without giving some idea of the line of policy he will follow on the great national questions? Local affairs undoubtedly loom large, but others are vital to the nation. From everything the independent candidate has said, from his general attitude toward Liberalism, and from the people who have been rallying round him, it seems that should he be returned he will vote to keep the present group in power.

Do We Want

Present Government?

It then comes back to this: Do we want the present Government continued in power? Skeena is going to be a factor in the election. This constituency will help to decide whether or not Meighen and his tribe of capitalists will remain in charge of the affairs of state or if the government of the country shall be handed over to those in closer touch with the common people. A vote for Stork is a sure vote for putting Meighen out. There can be no misunderstanding about it. The policy that far is clear cut. There is no compromise. A vote for Stork is a vote for a change, and any change would be better than the condition which we have suffered for the past few years.

Effort Made to Stampede Electors.

An effort has been made to stampede the electors into the belief that large numbers of Liberals were deserting their own candidate and supporting the opposition. Such is not the case. There are a few who, for reasons best known to themselves, are supporting Colonel Peck at this election who formerly supported the Liberals. Similar changes occur at any election. On the other hand, however, there are large numbers of men and women who are dissatisfied with the Meighen Government and who are not willing to take chances on any man who lives in the Meighen atmosphere, is supported by the Meighen group and who refuses to state how he will vote if he goes back to Ottawa.

Silent Vote Will Determine Election.

It is the silent vote that will determine the present election. There are in the city hundreds of men and women who do not say who they intend to support. Some do not yet know which way they will vote. They are harassed with doubts. They remember Colonel Peck's war record and feel they owe him a debt of gratitude. We all feel that way. The difficulty is to disassociate sentiment from the election. It is difficult, but it has to be done. We have to get down to cold facts. We have to realize that this is peace time and that the good of the country is the first consideration. Patriotism consists in doing that which is in the best interests of the country. To be a good Canadian is to vote in such a way that the whole country will prosper. It is not to continue in office the men who are controlled by the big manufacturers, the railways, the banks and the other overwhelming interests of the country, thus perpetuating class rule. It is to make the government once more representative of the people.

Dangers of Children Playing on Street.

Little children playing on the streets are in grave danger from passing autos and trucks. A lady tells of seeing a truck driving along one of the avenues at a reasonable speed. Some children were playing at the roadside. Just as it was passing a little boy dashed out in front of it, and the truck driver almost wrecked his truck in order to save the child. The youngster laughed about it and apparently thought he had done something smart. Had he been run over the truck driver would probably have been blamed. What is the remedy?

LAST DAY FOR XMAS VERSES SUBMITTED M'RAE COMPETITION

This is the last day of the competition for the McRae Christmas verse prize. Recent entries are:

Here's a greeting from Prince Rupert
For it's Christmas time again
Don't you pity us poor creatures
With our muskies, rocks and rain?

Well we do not need to worry
For the first few years are worst
And the town will be a good one
Though it looks like Hell at first.

Merry Christmas.
Some prefer new-fangled greetings
Others search for this or that,
But "A Merry Christmas" from Prince Rupert
Never sounds the least bit flat.

Christmas Greetings.
It may be just a custom
Sending cards like this, each year
To our uncles, aunts and cousins
And the friends we hold most dear.

But there's something more than habit
In the warmth of friendliness
That prompts the sending of this card
That goes to your address.

The best that I can wish for thee,
Dear friend, this Christmastide
Is that you might be with me,
View Rupert's Harbors wide;
Its lovely snowclad mountain tops,
And sunsets, beautiful, rare,
To linger ever in your mind
And drive away dull care.

Wishes.
If Prince Rupert's fishes
Were wishes, propitious,
Do you know what I would do?
I'd fill the world's dishes
With fishes, delicious,
And I'd send them all to you.

Greetings Unpolished.
From Prince Rupert I send you
this greeting
It's a city of roads built of planks;
Its women live on pink teas
and scandal,
Its men thrive off credit and notes on the banks.

But apart from its above mentioned badness,
And in spite of its muskies
and rain,
No one's ashamed to say "I live
in Rupert,
For we are all dam glad to get back again."

SOCIAL AT TSCHENICUT LAKE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

In the Letter Box

OBJECTS TO NURSE.

Editor Daily News:

A great celebration of Magna Charta Day is being arranged for next June 15, throughout the British Empire and the United States.

From this love of liberty, in politics and religion our great Empire, and the republic to the south of us have been developed.

With this in mind the proposal contained in the letter of Dr. H. E. Tremayne in your issue of November 12 calls for at least one protest in the name of Liberty.

There is no doubt at all that this appointment would, according to the doctor "enhance the value of medical examination of children manifold," but that "she would be able to convince their parents that it is in the interest of the child's welfare they should be attended to" is quite another matter. The average parent knows better than any one how to care for his or her child without being reminded daily, or weekly, of his or her duty in this direction.

Educated, Not Ticketed.
Children are sent to school to be educated not to be ticketed and numbered and examined like pedigree stock. May we not leave the public schools of the city free to carry out their scope and purpose in the limited time they have for lessons, without providing gratis a field for the cultivation of theories, free subjects for experiments. The doctor is not the repository of all knowledge, though acting with the best of motives.

In the Prince Rupert Hospital we have a Municipal Institution established at large cost to minister to all who believe in the regular allopathic, homeopathic, osteopathic or other schools of treatment, and maintained and paid for by the taxpayers who believe in these schools.

Parents Have Say.
I have no objection to the doctors teaching the children of parents who believe in them, but I do insist on my right to have something to say about the education of my children.

The Puritans, under Archbishop Laud, used to say that they could not call their souls their own. Our school children, if such a compulsory, periodical, and physical examination is inaugurated, will not be able to call either their souls or bodies their own.
