Sentiment in North Toward New Province.

There is a very strong sentiment in the northern part of the province in favor of breaking away from the southern part of British Columbia and forming a new province to include everything from, say, Bella Coola to the Yukon boundary. It is a more or less latent sentiment but has been fanned a good deal of late, particularly in districts where they feel they are not getting a square deal from any of the governments that have been in power in Victoria.

The swing of the south is so strong, it is claimed, that very few real improvements can be secured for the north. Just now we need a road from the coast to the interior. We need it at the coast and the people of the interior need it. There seems to be little hope that we shall have it for some time to come, yet they can have roads in the south. Unless the north gets good treatment, larger representation, good appropriations, there will undoubtedly be a strong agitation to have the province sheared in two midway between north and south and a separate provincial government formed for each.

Be a Unit on Railway Treatment.

If we were a separate province just now we could better deal with the deliberate ignoring of the claims of the north by the Canadian National Railway, influenced doubtless by the Mackenzie interests which are so powerful throughout Canada today. A provincial government in the north would take up the fight for a better service. A government at Victoria has not that compelling interest in things here which would make them see the great northland as we see it. They see it as a purely Dominion question, which of course it is, but a northern province would make it their own question and would have a great deal of prestige—such as a few boards of trade have not—in influencing the railway to give us that service to which we are entitled.

Prince Rupert is Pattern for North.

As the largest city north of Vancouver and as the place with the prospect of becoming a large centre in the not far distant future, Prince Rupert is watched more closely than the ordinary city. People come here and go away with an impression and this impression they try to impart to others.

One man, a journalist too at that, called in passing. He apparently saw the lower streets of the town and went away to tell the people of the east what an ugly place Prince Rupert is. He saw the worst of it, as travellers usually see who spend only half an hour or so in a place, and he carried away a false impression. It is because of the danger of our creating a bad impression of the whole north that responsibility rests on us. We should use every effort to smarten ourselves and put our best goods in the store window. We should see that even if we have no station, we have surroundings that make a prosperous appearance. The fact that we have much hill and rock is simply to say that we have beauty possibilities which no flat town can possess. Think of any level city and compare it with a fine city like Seattle or Vancouver built on hills and the difference is at once noticeable. We too are building on hills and it is a rock foundation that is permanent. We have all the possibilities of making one of the finest cities of Canada.

King Puts It Up To Meighen.

Mackenzie King has put it up to Premier Meighen in the most forcible manner possible that he is not the chosen representative of the people but rather a Bolshevik leader, ruling by right of might rather than because he has been selected by the people for the position. He did not use those words but that was the intent of his address. It is the apt way in which the other Liberal leader, Ernest Lapointe, puts it in many of his addresses. The true Bolshevik is one who usurps the powers of the people and rules autocratically on behalf of a class.

* PRINCE RUPERT TIDES *

Tuesday, February 15.

High, 6:18 a.m., 19 feet.

19:16 p.m., 15.8 feet.

Low, 12:48 p.m., 6.9 feet.

Wednesday, February 16.

High, 7:26 a.m., 18.9 feet.

20:37 p.m., 15.7 feet.

Low, 0:46 a.m., 8.7 feet.

14:56 p.m., 6.7 feet.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

A lot of people spend money in advertising, others invest it in advertising. An advertisement in the Daily News is an investment.

SOLDIERS OF PRINCE GEORGE ORGANIZE

Alex. Young Secretary of Veterans' Political Alliance at Prince George

PRINCE GEORGE, Feb. 16.—The work of perfecting the new political organization formed here recently, by ex-service men, under the name of the "Veteran's Political Alliance," is proceeding apace under the able guidance of its energetic secretary, A. McB. Young. Following the decision arrived at at a mass meeting held in the city early in the month that the returned men of this entire district form themselves into a political organization of their own with the view of placing their own nominee in the field in all coming elections, either Federal or Provincial, a committee of the following men has been formed to carry out the proposition to its logical conclusion: A. McB. Young, J. B. Daniel, Alice Ogston, L. Vibbard, W. Crocker, E. Bower and Mr. Heale, with Hugh Cochran as chairman.

The new association will have nothing to do with any particular party and will have for its aim, not so much the obtaining of any special benefits or legislation for soldiers or returned men, but the general good and welfare of the entire northern district, to the benefit of the entire resident population as a whole.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

February 16, 1911

Ex-Mayor Stork addressed the Presbyterian Club last evening, taking for his subject, "Canada and citizenship are inseparable." At the foundation of citizenship was education, then interest in local affairs, and then in politics according to Mr. Stork. Rapidly being peoples with citizens of the best class possible, Canada, he declared, with all its magnificent possibilities and resources is fast becoming the best country in the world in which to live.

There was another meeting of the Prince Rupert Canadian club last night in Major Gibson's office. Preparations were set on foot for a regular opening proper in the manner for which it is designed in about two weeks' time. The guest for the occasion will be the veteran Church of England missionary, Archdeacon Collison.

The police having satisfied themselves that the boxing contest to be staged by the Kaien Island, is a pure and simple boxing bout, and as such perfectly legitimate, they have given permission for it to be carried out.

Jim Petroff and Pete Glomith are engaged in a deathly struggle for the ownership of a certain lumber wagon. It appears that the latter is attempting to take possession of the wagon without proper title. The case has been remitted to the High Court by Magistrate Cars.
