

SOUTH AFRICAN NOMINATIONS TAKING PLACE

Test Over Question of Secession, with Smuts for Continuing Union

The nominations for the parliament of the Union of South Africa taking place today and the elections are to be held on January 8. The Unionist coalition party is headed by Jan Smuts and against it are the Nationalists who stand for separation from the British Empire. There is also a Labor Party which is in favor of continuing a part of the British Empire. The Nationalists have been surprised, says a recent London paper, "as had not anticipated that Smuts would dare to lead the country; but throughout, General Smuts' leadership has been the surprise. Nationalists were wholly unprepared to follow him, and to follow him wholeheartedly for when the Hereenizing (reunion) Conference was held in September. They represented him as the enemy of reunion, but discovered that he was doing his utmost to promote it. Their second was when the South African Party delegates stood like a rock at the Hereenizing Congress on the question of secession; their third was when General Smuts proclaimed the policy of forming a strong centre party to fight secession; and their fourth when that policy was unanimously adopted by both the South African and the Unionist Party Congresses."

"LEILA R." IS BACK IN PORT

Was in Shelter at White Rock Six Days and Did Not Make Queen Charlottes

The Provincial government for-estry launched Leila R. returned to port yesterday afternoon at 3.30 and fears for her safety were happily dispelled on her arrival. The Leila R. left here last Thursday morning bound for Thurston Harbor to bring Robert Holmes, accused of manslaughter in killing Joseph Booth, to this port, but on Thursday evening she met such bad weather that she headed for White Rock, at the north end of Banks Island, it being plain that she could never weather the crossing of Hecate Straits in such a storm as was raging. Several times she ventured forth from her shelter, but always had to come in again, once having been four hours out. Finally early yesterday morning the weather calmed down sufficiently for her to come out again, but Hecate Straits still looked bad, so Captain Butt headed his boat home for Prince Rupert. On the way north, about 20 miles from Prince Rupert, the Narbethong with Captain Freeman and Lieutenant Sault on board was met and both launches came in within half an hour of each other yesterday afternoon. The Leila R. was out of port a week, six days of which were spent at White Rock. Those aboard her were Constable Ackroyd, Captain Butt, Captain Leighton and Engineer G. Dorien.
