

TERRACE is a thrifty, growing town. The chances are good that oil will be struck in the immediate vicinity, as seepages have been found, much ground has been staked and a drilling outfit is on its way there. We offer for sale eighty acres of land, 1 1/2 miles from the town on a good road at $12.50 per acre. This is your opportunity to participate in the enhanced real estate values that will surely follow the growth of Terrace.

ARGENTINE ARMY IS STILL GOOSE STEPPING

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 18.—When General Mangin, the hero of Verdun, visited Buenos Aires recently, he was asked to review the crack regiment of Argentine cadets, future officers of the Argentine army.

Those who accompanied the French general to witness the manoeuvres wondered what he thought when he beheld a regiment uniformed and helmeted like the Prussian guards he had fought against in the war and marching with the famous Prussian goose step.

The Argentine army continues to be trained in the methods of the German military school which were adopted some years before the war under the tutelage of German officers and with German equipment.

EATING GRASS MANY DYING

Terrible Conditions in Russia Says Press Association Special Correspondent.

SAMARA, Nov. 18.—(By a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press).—The whole truth about the famine becomes readily apparent after observations here. Reports of millions of people eating grass or lying in a dying condition on the banks of the Volga River or migrating en masse are rather far-fetched.

Entering the famine area the correspondent had provided himself with canned meats and hard bread but was not compelled to use any of it in the first two weeks of travel as food was always available at reasonable prices.

People do not die of hunger in one week. It takes months of underfeeding. Then they reach the point where they are unable to eat food at all. Their hands, feet and stomachs begin to swell or they succumb to an epidemic of malaria or else the new disease described as anuria, no cure for which is known here. Or they may be killed by cold winds, snows, and rains which have been setting in for the past two weeks, with each hour taking a toll of hundreds.

Die Before Christmas.

The people of the provinces of Samara, Kazan and Simbirsk are in a starving condition. In these three provinces, there are probably 500,000 children and 1,000,000 adults who must die before Christmas.

The American Relief Administration is feeding barely 200,000 children but is giving no food to the adults. One of the best effects of its food distribution will be to cheapen prices and check the hoarding of food stuffs.

The Moscow government appears to be unable to send food into this district owing to lack of money and poor organization. Also the typical Russian indifference to misery is evident.

The correspondent while sitting on the platform of a railway station throughout a long, cold night, waiting for a train, saw a barefooted, little insane girl tripping along but the train, hands and other refugees let her wander unaided until she drifted past the Red sentry into a waiting room already filled to overflowing with several thousands of persons lying asleep on the floor.

Used to Starvation.

A member of the local Soviet who lived in the United States for seven years, showed no pity but said: "You foreigners do not realize how much our peasants can stand. They are used to starvation."

The famine area does not present a forbidding aspect, except in the fields from which no harvests were obtained. The meadows and grazing lands showed many herds of horses and cattle. The villages seemed abnormally quiet, yet their workers were abroad putting in winter rye wheat. To the visitor they made the customary charge that if it had not been for the Soviet requisitions their crops would have been sufficient.

"Now our only hope for bread is America," they say; yet many know they must die by winter and accept their fate with stoicism.

"Why leave our homes and go die on the railway stations?" many of them retort when asked why they do not desert their land.

In the Hospitals.

Medical conditions are distressing. The country doctors are unable to practice as they are without medicines and the situation is almost the same in the fifteen hospitals of Samara. Dr. Glason, the surgeon in one of these hospitals, having 180 patients said: "We have no quinine, no bandages, no aspirin, no chloroform, nothing."

The same condition exists in the children's hospitals and also in the dozens of homes open for the care of refugees, for there are no sanitary arrangements. In one such home 300 children are crowded in two rooms, without blankets, fires or mattresses and with little or no clothing. Their only advantage is that they have a real roof over them and receive hot soup daily.
