MINISTER OF LANDS TELLS OF PROBLEMS HERE AND ABROAD

breaking into the European markets in respect of certain classes of our timber, but there are other classes in which we can secure some considerable business.

"I did not have time to visit Egypt, but Mr. Turnbull is remaining over for some time in connection with the timber business, and in all probability I shall have to return to Europe some time after the sitting of the legislature in order to complete the work which has been started.

Immigration Important.

"The problem of immigration is an all important one, both for British Columbia and the whole of the Dominion of Canada. I am inclined to think that possibly I have somewhat broader views with respect to the problem of immigration than is generally given expression to at the present time. While it would undoubtedly be a mistake to dump large numbers of people into our large cities, I nevertheless believe that we can assimilate a larger number of immigrants than is generally contemplated. I think we should make our first effort to get people on the land. For every man that is upon the land means another in the city to supply him with the manufactured articles which he must have.

Aggressive Policy.

"It is proposed to carry out an aggressive policy of immigration as far as British Columbia is concerned, and while I was in the old country I think I succeeded in creating a very great deal of interest in the problem and have laid the foundation for pursuing the work along lines which will result in considerable flow of settlers to British Columbia.

"At the present time Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and other nations of the Empire are formulating very elaborate plans in respect of the problem of immigration. The one thing which we must have in Canada in view of the great extent of our country and our immense resources is that the land must be peopled.

"I believe that we have less cause for worry than any other country on earth and that we will experience during the next few decades a larger proportionate development than any other country in the world. But this can only be brought about by progressive and aggressive common sense action.

Heroic Struggle.

"Great Britain is making a heroic struggle to get on her feet. The one big bugbear which has been staring them in the face is the Irish question, and there is also the unemployment situation, which a great many people think has been aggravated through the system of doles, whereby men who have been out of work have been receiving the same pay as men who have been working. A great many people seem to think that the nation has been trying to lift itself up by the boot straps. The whole question is an exceedingly intricate, but also an exceedingly interesting one and there are so many aspects to it that it would take too much time to give expression to the many viewpoints that occur to me.

"The one big question facing all the nations in Europe is that of debt. It is facing the nations of Europe in the same manner that an individual debt faces the individual, and there is no man living who can foresee the final outcome.

"During my trip to Europe, I visited Sweden for the purpose of looking into the methods in vogue in respect of timber production. They use timber there that we prodigally throw away here. British Columbia, however, will gradually discard its wasteful methods and with the people coming to a realization of the heritage which is being wasted from forest fires much greater care will be exercised.

"In all of these matters the final responsibility rests upon the people themselves. Governments can only direct and it is for the people to carry out.

German Competition.

"I also visited Germany and France. The Germans are working hard and while there is unanimity as far as the outside world is concerned, there is considerable difference of opinion internally. With the skilled laborer receiving six or seven marks an hour, which is equivalent of six or seven cents, German competition is a problem. Germany's difficulties are still ahead. She levied no taxes for war. The Allies were to pay for the war. She carried on by printing paper money. One requires a bushel basket to carry his money in Germany. The Reichstag is now meeting and is faced with the problem of levying taxes. The masses of the German people believe that the great war was a war of aggression against Germany and that Germany was strong enough to force the Allies to come to a peace. Germany shows no re-

Liver Pains

Pains under the shoulder blades tell of liver derangements. Other indications are sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

The quickest way to arouse the liver to healthful action is by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Continued use will insure lasting relief, correct the whole digestive system and purify the blood.

Mrs. Wm. Barten, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a hard, bearing-down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared and I felt much benefited generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

sentiment against the English, but she dislikes the French. At a pageant, which I attended, one of the bands played "Deutschland uber Alles" immediately followed by Rule Britannia. No French airs were played.

Gayest City.

"As for France, Paris is still the gayest city in the world. Nevertheless, there always lurks the constant fear of what might happen. When one sees the devastation that took place it brings it home pretty closely. In different towns scores of buildings demolished, a great many of which have not yet been repaired, while in the fields great shell holes still bear evidence of the devastation.

"I would rather live in Canada than any other country on earth, and I would rather live in British Columbia than any other part of Canada. We are fortunate to be in Canada and fortunate to be in British Columbia. Comparatively we have not any troubles and there is no place for the groucher, kick-er and the pessimist. We are in the greatest country and the greatest province on earth."

TAXI AFFAIRS GIVEN AIRING

Police Commission Discussed Different Features at Meeting Last Night.

Taxi matters were given an airing at the police commission meeting last night. Several different phases were taken up and some recommendations were made to the police in connection with the enforcing of the law.

The recommendation for the revoking of a driver's license was made. The man in question had recently been convicted of driving while intoxicated. "I do not know the particular circumstances of this case in point," said Commissioner Macdonald, "but I certainly feel that the license of any chauffeur who is found drunk while driving should be taken away." This stand was endorsed by Mayor Rochester and Commissioner Myhill-Jones.

Commissioner Macdonald also went on record as being against discrimination. He said there were several cases that he knew of where it was almost certain drivers had been intoxicated. He cited one instance on Fulton Street where a driver had gone over the grade and was found one hour later asleep in bed. Witnesses of the incident had declared that the driver had been under the influence of liquor at the time. If one driver was prosecuted they all should be. He had a system which he would like to discuss privately. It would possibly do a lot towards bringing certain persons to time.

Night Driving.

Commissioner Myhill-Jones stated that the driving of cars about the city between the hours of midnight and early morning was becoming a decided nuisance. Cars raced at full speed along the streets with cut-outs open. The mayor instructed Chief Vickers to investigate the matter. It was pointed out that it was against the law to drive a car with the cut-out open.

Commissioner Macdonald argued that the police see that all taxi-drivers in the city were in possession of licenses and other proper requirements.

Mayor Rochester reported that parking difficulties were not causing so much trouble now. The bylaw regulating the parking of taxis in the vicinity of Comox Avenue was going through. The general bylaw would have to be held over for a time.

was offered from time to time at the Agent-General's office in London. Mr. Pattullo was asked his views in respect thereto. In reply Mr. Pattullo said:

Doing Splendid Work.

"The Agent-General's office is doing a splendid work. The present Agent-General, Mr. Wade, is an exceedingly able man and from his long experience as a newspaper man is able to attain most valuable publicity of the highest class for the province. He is a hard worker, is aggressive and constantly keeps British Columbia to the fore. The British Columbia building is located on one of the best sites in London. Not only is the building the rendezvous of British Columbians, but people from all parts of Canada. In my judgment the agency serves an exceedingly valuable purpose.

"Col. Cunningham, former commissioner of fisheries, has his office in the British Columbia House. Col. Cunningham has been doing excellent work. Educational work requires to be done in respect of the salmon industry just as it does in respect to the lumber business. The canning industry of British Columbia has got to go out after the business. They need not expect that the business will come to British Columbia without effort. Our American friends have been exceedingly active. Not only do they have representatives on the ground, but they have actual stock on the ground, which can be delivered at a moment's notice. Dealers in London don't want to wait three or four months for goods when they can get them immediately. There are also a considerable number of what may be called tricks of the trade that may seem comparatively small, but are all important in the actual making of sales and to which our British Columbia industry must be alive.
