Alaska Out After
All Sorts of Industries.

Alaska is moving heaven and earth to secure industries. Like ourselves they have the raw material, but raw material is of no value to anyone until it is manufactured. Because of that they are making special efforts to secure pulp and paper mills, lumber mills, wood working plants, canneries and capital to develop their mines. The communities are offering inducements for pulp concerns to locate and trying in every way to make it profitable for capital so that others may come.

In British Columbia we have been more conservative, but if we had a little more of the American spirit in regard to these matters, we should grow faster.

There are rumors from time to time that some concern may take hold of the Khlada or Falls River water and turn it into power. Naturally we are the market and if we can induce them to do this we shall be helping ourselves. So it is with other concerns. We want them all. Because we got a cold deal from the railway over the concessions offered, was because we did not tie them up tight enough in the agreement. Now we have learned a lesson. If we can bring them here, it will be good policy to do it. We want industries, we want coal bunkers, we want fish cars and we want an assembly dock for shipping lumber. When we have those we shall want other things.

Shop Window
Of Community.

"One of the best indications of the business spirit of any town is the advertising columns of its local paper," said a successful business man recently. "The press is the show window of the community. If its columns are well patronized by merchants with progressive displays, it indicates a town where up-to-date business methods prevail. If, on the other hand, the merchants fail to make use of the local press, or simply run announcements cards in its columns, it is almost certain to follow that the stores of that town are run in a haphazard, listless sort of way."

"Every time I learn of a merchant who does not believe in advertising, my mind goes back to a store in which I worked when a boy. The front windows were seldom washed, while the window seat, instead of having attractive displays, usually featured bits of broken box tops, oranges dumped without care, some wrapped in tissue, others unwrapped, and some decaying, with other fruits in the same condition. Perhaps a few tins of corned beef or vegetables, or per chance a pair of boots, would complete the disorder."

Proprietor
Changed.

"Then the store had a musty, dusty odor, and well it might, for its back shelves were piled high with goods that had accumulated each year. We never sold anything from these poorly lighted musty regions in the back of the store. The merchandise had found a permanent home. No person knew what the shelves contained—for the proprietor did not believe in advertising. He never had a sale to keep his stock moving. New arrivals in the town did not know that he was doing business when they selected stores with which to trade."

"The store is still running—but the proprietor is gone. Today it is doing a large business, for the man who secured it when my old boss had to relinquish it, advertises. He does not simply make an announcement that he is in business. He tells the world what his stock contains. He runs special bargains every week and reduces the prices on many lines because they move fast. His stock is constantly turning over consequently his foodstuffs are fresh, and his clothing lines are up-to-date—and his customers are satisfied."

"This merchant's credit is good. He does not require much accommodation, but at any time that he does, his bank will oblige him, for he is progressive."

"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from indigestion, constant headaches and constipation. I took various medicines for the trouble but nothing seemed to do me any good."

Then, a friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Now I am free of indigestion and headaches, the constipation is cured, and I have gained considerable weight and my general health is fine.

"Fruit-a-tives is a grand medicine and I cannot say enough in its favor."

PRINCE RUPERT MAN
WAS PROFESSIONAL
ACTOR FORMERLY

L. Bullock-Webster, who has been engaged by the authoress to produce "Danas," is well known locally as an amateur actor, says a Victoria newspaper. His work in "The King of the Cannibal Islands," "Jane" and "The Three Musketeers," is fresh in the memories of local playgoers. But it is not generally known that he was for some years a professional actor who met with considerable success in his own line which was musical comedy.

Played in London

He studied for Sandhurst, but at the age of 19 obtained a theatrical engagement in London, and for his first professional employment played the small part of Ajax, in George Grossmith seniors "Gay Pretenders," at the Old Globe Theatre. At that time Letty Lind was in her prime and played the heroine. He next played a small part in "Dolly Varden," an ill-fated play which rehearsed for thirteen weeks and ran in London for only five nights, having cost thousands of pounds to produce. From that he went to the Shaftesbury Theatre in the chorus of the American company which was playing "The Casino Girl" and later went on tour in the chorus of the same play.

Stage Manager

Then, after an interval spent in British Columbia, he returned to the stage and joined the chorus of one of George Danes's many companies. After a time he became assistant stage manager and later stage manager with a three year contract. Mr. Danes, who at that time had twenty-four musical comedy companies, had for his chief producer Austin Hurston, and when the latter left to take up a permanent position with Frank Curzon in his West End theatres, Bullock-Webster was given a chance of producing "The Chinese Honeymoon" for the No. 1 tour.
