MANY VESSELS CLEARING HERE

Local Customs Office Gives Report Boats Passing Through This Port.

During the year ending March 31, 2268 ocean going vessels entered this port and 1929 cleared. This includes fish boats and vessels of the high sea, the numbers being made up mainly of the former.

There were 1479 coastal boats entering and 1544 clearing. These numbers include coastwise freight and passenger vessels and the number comprises mainly British and American vessels. The total tonnage of these coastwise vessels was 1,010,841.

During the year there were 726 Canadian fishing boats in and 698 out. There were 1282 American fishing boats arriving and 1231 clearing.

TENNIS DANCE PRETTY AFFAIR

Program Started on Time and Was Carried Out With Precision.

About 100 couples attended the annual dance of the Prince Rupert Tennis Club held last night in St. Andrew's Hall. The affair was a thoroughly enjoyable one and one of the social successes of the season. Being a program dance, it started in good time and the program was carried out with despatch and dancing ceased soon after two o'clock. The refreshments were excellent, indeed, and supper was served to three sittings commencing promptly at midnight. The hall was daintily decorated with tennis emblems in the blue and white colors of the club.

Music was provided by Howard White's Orchestra which was augmented at ten o'clock by members of the Westholme Orchestra. C. T. Heward was the master of ceremonies and J. C. Brady was at the door.

The committees were as follows: Hall Committee—C. T. Heward, G. W. McKay, T. B. Hooper, A. Nicholls and Mrs. C. T. Heward. Invitation Committee—W. O. Fulton, C. T. Heward, W. H. Tuley and Mrs. S. P. McMorde. Refreshments Committee—Steve King, Mrs. J. Conway, Mrs. L. W. Patmore and Mrs. S. P. McMorde.

Decoration Committee—Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Heward.

LOYD GEORGE FEELS LONELY

Says He will Fight All the Harder Since Loss of Bonar Law

Lloyd George, speaking at the 1920 Club, after the announcement of Bonar Law's resignation, said:

"By his (Bonar Law's) great sagacity, by his great ability, and above all, by the transparent sincerity of his character, he has won the admiration, the respect, and the affection of multitudes throughout this land. (Cheers.) His retirement is a severe blow to the Government, to his party, to the Coalition and to the country, and I am expressing not merely your wishes, but the wishes of the whole country, without respect of parties, when I hope for him a speedy recovery. (Hear, hear.)"

Intolerable Strain

"When I see one chieftain after another with whom I have been in action during these great events falling under the weight of their armor, I do not mind telling you that I am coming to feel very lonely. Public life in these days is almost an intolerable strain, even with all the sympathy and all the support—and we get a large measure of both—yet, with all that, it is almost an intolerable strain upon public men, and there would be nothing I should like better if I should retire from that strain. (You must not)"—and he a spectator and a witness of events. I would promise not to be a critic (laughter), because I know too well the difficulties, and am therefore in a position to make allowances. (Cheers.)

"But when chieftains retire to the casualty stations it is time for the rest of us to fight all the harder (cheers), and I am very glad to see that you are organizing the struggle. You are organizing wisely; this new movement of yours is an admirable one."—London Times.
