CONNIE MACK STAR MANAGER

Three of His Teams Have Won World Series Honors.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(World's Series).—An interesting sidelight on world series of other years is concerned in the managers of these pennant winning teams, whose employment of baseball cunning in the various games has been one of the invisible yet most potent factors in the great events.

Connie Mack, the slender boss of the Philadelphia Athletics, can lay claim to the greatest world series honors. Three of Mack's teams have won the series since the National commission took hold of baseball in 1905. Twice Mack found himself pitted against the wily John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants and Mack won on both occasions. Another of baseball's greatest leaders, Frank Chance, of the Cubs, lost a series to the Mack men.

However, Chance was one of the select few who led their teams to world series victory on two occasions. In 1907 and 1908 his Cubs turned back Hughie Jennings' Detroit. Chance's outfit was defeated in the series of 1906 by Manager Jones' Chicago White Sox. The Cubs were woefully weak in that series, taking into consideration the fact that they had set a new record for games won in winning the National League pennant.

Bill Carrigan won two series in 1915 and 1916, with the Boston Red Sox. The following table shows the winning managers since 1905.

Table with 2 columns: Year, Manager, Team. Includes winners like McGraw (1905), Jones (1906), Chance (1907), Carrigan (1915, 1916), Stahl (1918), Moran (1919), Speaker (1920).

In commenting on the recent Northern B. C. baseball championship series played in Prince Rupert the Alice Arm Herald says: "The Anyox baseball team did not have the honor of bringing home the Ben Self shield but they did have the satisfaction of beating Prince Rupert by a score of 4 to 1 and the chances are that they would have beaten Prince George had that team played all local men instead of four from Edmonton. All the boys of Anyox were loud in their praise of the hospitality shown them by the people of Prince Rupert who did everything possible to make their visit a pleasant one. The press of Prince Rupert gives Anyox credit for a fine exhibition of baseball against the best team Prince Rupert could put in the field. They hit a surprise package, however, when they ran against Prince George, that team being made up of the Twilight League professionals on their way south with the ducks for the winter. Next year, however, there is no doubt a better understanding will be arrived at and rules will be drawn up which will eliminate any man from playing unless he is a bona fide member of the team and a resident of the town the team represents. If something is not done along these lines there will probably not be any championship games next year, as far as Anyox is concerned. The shield this year has been conceded to Prince George, both Anyox and Prince Rupert being in favor of letting the pros hold it for the time being."
