WOULD HAVE SUNK SHIPS IN KIEL CANAL

Admiral Sir Percy Scott Urges Attention to Air Craft.

LONDON, April 22.—Admiral Sir Percy Scott, commander of the aerial defence of London in the world war, has no use for battleships. He believes the British navy would be better off if it spent the £10,000,000 intended for battleship construction in research and providing newer weapons of warfare.

"The late war," Sir Percy said, "showed that the only safe policy as regards battleships was to stow them away as far as possible from the enemy. If we go to war now with France I do not think our battleships will be safe unless we construct a harbor to contain them in Iceland."

"Personally," continued Sir Percy, in a newspaper interview, "I am fully in accord with Rear Admiral Adair when he said that we ought not to spend one penny on battleships, but whatever money we may have to spare should be laid out on research work. Rear Admiral Adair told the House of Commons that if we built new battleships we should also have to provide new bases at great cost at Halifax, Bermuda and Jamaica, on the West Coast of Canada, in New Guinea, and at Singapore. I say this nation, with the income tax at six shillings in the pound, cannot afford this huge expenditure, when nobody can tell me what we are going to do with these battleships when we get them."

"In the first few hours of the next war Plymouth, Dover and even London, may be reduced to ashes unless we are prepared with an adequate counter to the fleets of airplanes that would attack us. It seems to me, therefore, nothing but plain common sense that we should spend what we can spare not in battleships that are 'no d---d good' as the midshipman said, but in providing the very best we can buy of the newer weapons that will count in the war of the future."

New Davis Gun, Speaking of the latest developments in death dealing instruments, Sir Percy explained the principles of the new Davis gun, which fires from both ends and with which he said all American airplanes were to be armed. It would be possible for an airplane to carry a 12-inch gun and fire at battleships from 10,000 feet up. Battleships could have no protection against such weapons.

Speaking of the progress that had been made in planning aerial attacks on warships, Sir Percy said, in an interview in the Evening Standard: "It is no secret now—every man in the service knows it—that had the war lasted another fortnight, we would probably, by means of an aerial attack, have sunk all the German ships in the Kiel Canal."

Friend: "Did you have a pleasant drive, my dear?" Miss Speedy: "Not very exciting. I didn't knock anyone down today."

Friend: "That's hard luck."—The Automobileist.

ALBERTA CITIES TO HAVE FIVE MEMBERS

EDMONTON, April 23.—In the event of a general provincial election being called before another session of the legislature is held, amendments proposed to the election act and the legislative assembly act will provide for Edmonton and Calgary electing five members each instead of three each as at present constituted.

In each case the candidates will be required to stand for the city at large, the three-constituency division of the past being abolished. This provision has already given rise to the opinion that Edmonton and Calgary will probably be given a system of proportional representation in the next election.

This measure of redistribution will therefore give the next legislative assembly sixty members instead of fifty-eight, the present number. While the two overseas constituencies of the province at large, now held by Robt. Pearson and Mrs. R. C. Price, will be wiped out, the four extra members in Calgary and Edmonton will add two more members to the house.
