The Man in the Moon SAYS—

WHAT a jolly old world this would be if everybody was as pleased with us as we are with ourselves.

THE new month begins today and the dinners are already beginning to arrive.

THE Juneau chief of police says the soft drink palaces in that city all sell hard drinks. How suspicious these policemen are!

SOME people are so red-blooded they use their noses to advertise the fact.

SOME folks say men descended from monkeys and others claim they ascended. There may be some of both.

A GOOD many people can sympathize with the man who said he knew there was a higher power because he married her.

GOOD clothes are all right if you know how to wear them. The difficulty with some people is they look cleaner in better clothes than they do in worse.

A WOMAN gives up her name when she marries, but a man gives up nothing except his liberty.

THE beauty of living in the States is that if anything is going wrong you can always put it up to a grand jury to investigate.

MINERAL PRODUCTION UP RIVER WAS LARGER FOR YEAR JUST PAST

Silver Standard at New Hazelton Produced Most of Silver, Zinc and Lead

During the first half of the year 1920 the mining industry made good progress in the Northeastern district, but despite a decline in the second half the progress for the year was satisfactory, according to John D. Galloway, resident engineer, at Hazelton.

The production for the year is expected to be somewhat greater than 1919. Placer gold production is estimated at 4,000 ounces as compared to 3,900 ounces the year previous; lode gold, 275 ounces against 137; silver, 105,000 ounces against 72,573; lead 195,000 pounds compared with 180,355; zinc, 450,000 as against 221,539. Coal production dropped from 1,752 to 1,400 tons and there was no copper mined.

The output of silver, lead and zinc came mainly from the Silver Standard at New Hazelton which doubled its production.

By the removal of the coal bunker from Telkwa by the railway company outside coal shipments were stopped, but when these are replaced regular shipments will be commenced again.

There was considerable amount of development work during the year, much of this being about U.K.

NOTHING NEW IN MACKENZIE OIL RECENT REPORTS

In a recent number of the London Times is a short item published without a date line under the head "Oil Pipe Line in the Arctic," which reads as follows:

"Parliament is to be asked to authorize the construction of a pipe-line to convey oil from the Mackenzie River basin to the Behring Sea, whence it would be carried by tankers to the world markets."

In a report on the Macdougall Pass, written 33 years ago, Wm. Ogilvie, once Commissioner of Yukon Territory, predicted that this method of getting oil from the Mackenzie River to the markets of the world would be adopted.
