LABORITE CHIEFS ARE HEARD FROM WOOD DEFEATS DON IN FIRST SPEEDBOAT RACE TODAY

Englishman Led Most of Way But Fell Behind by About Two Miles at End

Weather Conditions Were Bad With Rain and Rough Water—American's Average 76.24 Miles and Opponent's 71.24

DETROIT, Sept. 3.—Gar Wood, in his Miss America X, defeated Kaye Don's Miss England III in the first Harmsworth Trophy race this morning by nearly two miles after the Englishman had led for the first twenty-eight miles of the thirty-five nautical mile course. Weather conditions were bad and the water was rough with rain.

Wood's average speed for the course was 76.24 statute miles per hour and Don's 71.24 miles.

Don drove the boat Miss England III alone while Wood had a mechanic with him in Miss America X. Don's boat is so constructed that he can operate it fully alone without the aid of a mechanic.

Don Explains
After the race, Kaye Don announced that his boat "lost speed at the end of the third lap and began taking in considerable water." He was unable to explain the reason and the boat was taken out of the water for examination.

Don later issued a statement in which he explained that the boat had been slowed up on the third lap by a loosened throttle control which caused the starboard motor to idle and by a water circulation pipe which had pulled out, causing the boat to ship water. The statement further said: "This was the greatest race in which I have ever driven and I enjoyed it immensely."

CONCESSION IS ROBBED

Thief Was Among Visitors at Fair Building Last Night—Man is Arrested Later

About 11:45 last night an amount said to aggregate upwards of $100 in cash was snatched from one of the fair concessions at the Exhibition Building, the thief making his getaway in the crowd. The police were soon on the trail and it was not long before W. Drummond was placed under arrest. He will be coming up in city police court on a charge of theft.

The concession was being operated by Jack Judge and Roi Barnes for the Elks' Lodge. The thief knocked the cash to the floor and cleared out with the proceeds.

KILLED AT DRY DOCK

Duncan C. Shields, Deckhand on Steamer Prince George, Lost Life During Storm

Duncan C. Shields, aged 45, of Vancouver, deckhand on the steamer Prince George, lost his life during the storm about midnight last night by breaking his neck in a fall at the local dock where his ship was yesterday tied up for the winter.

With four companions, Shields was returning to the ship from uptown about midnight. It was necessary for them to pass over the freighter Canadian Seigneur alongside which the Prince George is tied up. Shields had just about got to the top of the gangplank to the Canadian Seigneur when he apparently, missing his footing, fell on to the fender pile, a considerable distance below, and thence into the water. He is believed to have broken his neck on striking the pile and died instantly.

One of Shields' companions immediately climbed down to the water and pulled the body on to the piles while the police and doctor were being called. Constable Egel of the city detachment arrived on the scene in company with Dr. C. H. Hankinson who, on arrival, pronounced the man dead. An investigation was later made by Sergeant W. J. Service, chief of the city detachment of the provincial police, and C. N. R. Constable David Geddes.

An inquest was opened today before Coroner Norman A. Watt and, after the body had been viewed at the undertaking parlors of Haynor Bros., the hearing was adjourned until next Tuesday afternoon. The jury consists of Max Heilbroner, foreman, S. E. Parker, W. P. Armour, Thomas Ballinger, W. M. Watts and John Bulger Jr.

ECLIPSE STUDIED

"Astoundingly Successful" Observations Reported to Have Been Made By Astronomers

Discoveries Made

Photographs and Timings Recorded Which May Prove of Timely Importance to Science

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 3.—"Astoundingly successful" results have rewarded a band of scientists who studied the eclipse of the sun at Actonvale, Quebec, last Wednesday, it was announced here yesterday.

The nucleus of the expedition was composed of members of the Royal Astronomical Society, Hamilton Branch.

Twelve phenomenally clear plates recording totality of the eclipse were exhibited by General R. B. Marsh. His confreres believe these plates are possibly the only perfect record obtained on the North American continent.

Equally sensational and of possible scientific portent was the chronometric measurement of totality duration at ninety seconds, twelve seconds less than astronomers of McGill University and Ottawa had predicted for that locality and beginning one second later than astronomical experiences dictated. This, the astronomers intimated, might mean motions of the moon not yet accounted for.

Observation of the corona streamers on the left showed a distinct curvature of the arms which is also possibly a discovery of importance.

Political Chaos Threatened In Democratic Party Following on Walker Resignation; New Battle

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Political chaos threatens to follow the sensational action of Mayor James J. Walker of New York in resigning as a result of the ouster proceedings before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt following the charges of Samuel Seabury. Tammany and the reform elements are girding themselves for battle which may have far-reaching effects throughout the nation so far as the Democratic party is concerned.

Tammany has expressed its intention of running Walker for reelection on a vindication platform and is demanding a special election in November as a result of the mayor's resignation. On the other hand, leaders of the reform movement are insisting that no election at this time is necessary and that Acting Mayor Joseph B. McKewell, president of the board of aldermen, is entitled to sit until December, 1933, which would be the regular date of expiry of the mayoral term. A court battle will probably be involved before this issue is settled.

It took only two minutes yesterday afternoon to conclude the ouster hearing which was called off by Governor Roosevelt in view of Mayor Walker's resignation. Meantime, Walker was resting yesterday at his exclusive Park Avenue residence. It was intimated during the day that he had been offered $500,000 a year to enter the service of A. C. Blumenthal, real estate and theatrical magnate.

Messages of Leaders of Labor In Dominion Given To All Workers

Tom Moore, P. M. Draper and A. R. Mosher Send Labor Day Greetings to Their Followers Throughout Canada

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—A call to labor to hold fast to its principles and unite in efforts to secure such provisions for the future as will guard against a recurrence of conditions in which workers find themselves during depression, is contained in Labor Day messages issued by leaders of workers' organizations in Canada.

Messages sent out by Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and P. M. Draper, secretary-treasurer of the same body, urge calm consideration of the many problems facing the laborers and demand a system of contributory unemployment insurance.

A. R. Mosher, president of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor, urges the laboring classes to expand their organization and secure political power with a view to one day assuming control so that they may derive a larger share from the results of their labor.

"Labor refuses to lose hope for the future, or to discontinue the struggle for those things to which the workers are justly entitled," declares Mr. Moore. "The record of trade unions in seeking to attain their objectives only by constitutional methods warrants support and co-operation of all other classes," he concludes.

"Workers are getting ready to use their economic and political power in a concerted endeavor to hasten the evolution of a more equitable order," says Mr. Mosher.

Mr. Draper condemns the actions of those who, "indulging in radical criticism of the organization of industry and society, would substitute for it a state bordering on communism. From these people the workers can hope for nothing except further misery," he declared.

All three messages stress the lack of sympathy among organized workers for those who would resort to force to correct what they consider evils of the present system.

Tom Moore's Message

The message from Tom Moore, president, Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, is as follows: "The observance of Labor Day as a national holiday serves as a reminder of the important position which trade unions have established in the public affairs of this country and the valuable contribution organized labor has made towards the advancement of the general standard of community life.

"Notwithstanding the long continued depression and still increasing unemployment, labor refuses to lose hope for the future or discontinue the struggle for those things to which the workers are justly entitled.

"While urging at all times that the first essential is the provision of work, yet, in the absence of same, relief must be provided and foremost among measures sought in this regard is the enactment of a national scheme of contributory unemployment insurance. By this means needy workers will be liberated from the necessity of appealing to public charities in order to secure food, shelter and the bare necessities of life.

"Labor is pressing more strenuously than ever for the establishment of a system of contributory unemployment insurance."
