FUNERAL OF MISSIONARY

Veteran Clergyman of Naas River Laid to Rest This Afternoon

The funeral of the late Rev. James B. McCullagh, veteran missionary of Aiyansh, Naas River, took place this afternoon from the Anglican Church, interment being in Fairview Cemetery. There was a large number of mourners at the service to pay their last respects to the well-known and respected missionary and many of these followed the cortege to the cemetery. Rev. Canon G. A. Bix was the clergyman in charge at the church service and the graveside and he was assisted by Rural Dean W. F. Rushbrook.

Viewed Remains

The body lay in state at St. Andrew's Church from 11 o'clock this morning until the service and many friends passed to view the remains for the last time. The service was a touching one and tender sympathy for those left to mourn a husband and father was expressed by the clergyman, besides sterling tributes that were paid to his memory. The Anglican choir was in attendance and sang the hymns, "Fight the Good Fight," "There is a Happy Land," and "We Thank Thee Now, Our God."

The pallbearers, who comprised men of the Masonic Order of which Mr. McCullagh was a member, were: Captain E. McCoskie, Harry Birch, W. C. Orchart, H. Pattinson, Captain G. B. Formby and J. M. Collison.

Among the floral tributes were offerings from Tsimpsean Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Tyee Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Pattinson & Ling, Ltd., Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Kerwin, Bishop and Mrs. F. B. Du Vernet and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Tite.
