ELKS HAVE BIG CELEBRATION

Grand Lodge Officer and Other Visitors Entertained Last Evening.

INTERESTING ADDRESS ON MEANING OF ELKDOM

There was a great celebration last evening in the forest where the Elks disported themselves. The good time commenced at the regular meeting of the local lodge at which Alexander Peden of Victoria, district deputy grand exalted ruler, D. D. Spence, past exalted ruler of Victoria lodge and E. L. Stock of Victoria Lodge were the guests of honor. They came on an official visit and are passing through to the big Elks' Convention at Calgary. Accompanying them are Mrs. Peden, grand secretary of the Ladies of the Royal Purple, and Mrs. Spence.

Addresses were given by two of the visitors during the sitting of the lodge and later adjournment was made to the private dining room of the St. Regis cafe where a light supper was enjoyed and a very enjoyable program of music and speeches was supplied, with Exalted Ruler W. J. Cash, presiding.

Addresses were given by each of the visitors and the Elks' orchestra consisting of Charles and William Balagno, and Messrs Reid, and Greenfield played a number of selections and songs were sung by Ed. Craggs, and J. Fletcher. There was a jolly throng of merrymakers and the fun was kept up until rather a late hour.

Duty to City.

In addressing the members Mr. Peden complimented them on the growth and progress of the city and emphasized the duty of every Elk to be loyal to his city and to try to improve it in every way, materially and morally. The duty of each member was first to his family, then to his city and his country.

"Elkdom was founded many years ago with certain principles and ideals for its foundation," said the speaker. "The highest morality and virtue was inculcated and they taught both by precept and example. When a candidate is received he is called upon to take a solemn obligation, but this conflicts in no way with the duty to his country, his family or himself, but affords him a greater opportunity for service in the interests of all.

Three Emblems.

"Three of the most important emblems of our fraternity are the Flag, Holy Bible and Stately Elk and a member's obligation demands from that time on, his loyalty to king and country and to uphold and preserve law and order and to abide by all constitutional law in the interest of society and to defend this institution against wrongful intent by any one and to assist whenever possible any object in the best interests of the lodge with the view of maintaining freedom justice and equality.

"He takes this obigation on the volume of the sacred law or word of truth, truth being one of the cardinal principals of this order and it is expected that this obligation shall guide him through life in the paths of honesty and justice and his personal actions and deeds shall at all times and circumstances be such, as to put beyond any question of doubt his personal integrity.

Three Initials.

"The emblem of the stately elk from which our name is taked has given us the initials of three golden links. E stands for Equality; L for Love and K for Kindness and I would like to ask if there are any words in the English language that convey any better sentiment, and if practiced could bring more happiness into the lives of the people.

"In our 11 o'clock ceremony it says: 'The Elk unlike the more ferocious animals of the forest, while ready to fight in defence of its weaker members is naturally docile and lives in peace with all mankind' and here is a wonderful example for us to follow.

Duty to Fight.

"It is our duty to fight in defence of our weaker members by rendering assistance in time of need, comfort in time of sorrow, help the sick, respect old age and love the child, protect him or her good name whenever necessary and eliminate all selfishness from the heart and mind and replace it with the desire for service, extend the grip of fellowship with a smile, be willing at all times to assist in any just cause in the interests of humanity and avoid unkind words and deeds for in many instances they are expressions of misunderstanding and not to receive them in a spirit of revenge that may lead to serious regrets in the future. This gives an opportunity to teach by precept and example those nobler sentiments in life.

Forget Faults.

"The fault of our brothers we write upon the sands of the seas where they can be quickly effaced and forgotten while their virtues we appreciate, and if you will exercise that honesty of purpose and fair play the time must come when even those that 'misunderstand' you will learn to admire and respect you, then it can be truly said that your desire is to make life sweeter, men better and the world happier.

"Every member of this order is privileged to wear an Elk pin which is his right after being accepted into this order, this emblem not only carries the responsibility of himself and his local lodge but he is representing thousands of Elks in this great Dominion and any lawful or dishonest act on his part is a reflection on every member of this order and his obligation demands good behavior and honesty at all times. In most Elk lodges homes are established for the benefit of its members, where rules and regulations are laid down as a matter of business and where all matters between members should always be beyond reproach. In my opinion this obligation extends to the private home of every member as well, where he should be an example of good citizenship, where harmony and good will, should prevail.

A Real House.

"A home is where harmony and good will fill the atmosphere where your children love and respect you, enjoy the pleasure of your company, filled with joy at your coming, and regret your absence, where they love to play as children should and choose you as their best friend and companion, where equality love and kindness should be your greatest desire and practice it by your own conduct to your wife and family. The duty of an Elk is to make men better, life sweeter and the world happier."

F. W. Dowling, inspector for the Mainland Fire Underwriters' Association, Vancouver, returns tonight from Anyox and will spend some days in the city on official duties looking into the local water pressure, fire protection and buildings generally.
