HAS NEVER FELT
 THE RHEUMATISM

Since Taking "Fruit-a-lives"
 The Famous Fruit Medicine

P.O. Box 123, Parisienne, N.S.
 "I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up.
 I tried medicines I saw advertised, and was treated by doctors but the Rheumatism always came back.
 In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that "Fruit-a-lives" would stop Rheumatism and took a box, and got relief; then took "Fruit-a-lives" right along for about six months and I have never felt my Rheumatism since."

MEMORY OF MISSIONARY IS HONORED

Elders of Late Rev. William Duncan's Mission in Alaska Revisit Port Simpson.

PORT SIMPSON, Nov. 17.—A few days ago the elders of the Christian Church of Metlakatla, Alaska, revisited their former homes in Port Simpson where, in 1857, the late Rev. William Duncan first brought the light of salvation among the Tsimps-ean people.
 These elders held their service on the same site as where Mr. Duncan held his first service. The ruins are still standing.
 During the service, tribute was paid to the memory of the great missionary who sacrificed everything in order to minister to the warlike and savage Indians, doing so, many times, at the peril of his own life.
 Made Self-Supporting.
 It was brought out at this service that his efforts had not been in vain. The results of his labors reflected in the law abiding, Christian and independent natives. Mr. Duncan taught them the simple faith in Christ and encouraged the people to develop industries among themselves in order to make them self-supporting and a credit to their adopted country.
 Last Sunday a service was conducted by these visiting elders in the Grace Methodist Church. At this service a bible was dedicated to the people of Port Simpson by the elders in memory of Mr. Duncan.
 During the service mention was made of the great missionary's life, of how he came among them in Port Simpson and later moved to Metlakatla, B. C., and started there a successful mission, and of how he made the people self-supporting by conducting their own industries.
Church Difficulties.
 After some years of success-fulness, difficulties arose between Mr. Duncan and the higher dignitaries of the Anglican Church, resulting in the missionary severing his connection with the mission although continuing to teach among the Tsimpsians at his own expense and devoting his whole time and life to their welfare.
 The differences became so serious that it was deemed advisable to seek another village so an appeal was made to the United States Government for land in Alaska. The mission was received with open arms by the Government and the result was the establishing of the village of Metlakatla, Alaska. Here was started a salmon cannery, sawmill, church and industrial school in which different crafts were taught. The village was made a model one in every way and, through the untiring zeal of Mr. Duncan, was made one which would be a credit to any country.
 It was to perpetuate his memory in the field of his first labors that the Bible was presented to the Grace Methodist Church at Port Simpson.
 The elders are also visiting Metlakatla, B. C. and Kitkatla before returning to their homes in the north.

Stork Election Stock Is Rising.

Stork election stock is steadily rising. There is no doubt about it. Many men who were reported to be against him have now thrown in their lot wholeheartedly with the Liberal candidate. They are beginning to reason the matter out, and anyone who does that honestly and without bias must come to the conclusion that the country has had enough of Conservative class rule to last for many a day. Anyone opposed to the Meighen administration has only one way to vote.

The Liberals are not finding it necessary to resort to mud-slinging or abusive language to bolster up a lost cause, as is the case of the other side. There is no imputing of false motives or trying to cast slurs on the motives or characters of those who are supporting Colonel Peck. We believe that most of the Peck supporters are honorable men and that they are honest in their beliefs. They are not much worse as a body than are the Liberals. The only fault with them is that they are mistaken, sadly mistaken. Unfortunately men who see things right in their business affairs often get very much distorted in their political views. We do not blame them for that. We simply pity their incapacity to view the matter from the right angle.

Many good Liberals at the last election voted for the Unionists because they felt that they would take no chances in, to use a vulgar phrase, "swapping horses when crossing the stream." Today the stream is crossed safely and we resume our normal political positions. Today those Liberals who formerly voted the other way are behind Fred Stork, for they feel that the triumph of Liberalism is necessary in order to get back to a more sane order of things.

Reports Are Most Encouraging.

Reports are continually coming in from every section of the constituency, and all these reports are to the effect that Stork is slowly but surely gaining ground and that the outcome of the election is no longer in doubt. It is in working class circles that there is the most effective opposition to class rule. The men who toil see no hope of relief from the return of the Meighen administration, and their only recourse is to support Fred Stork. This they are doing and the outcome will be a surprise to those who have put their faith in the wave of the flag and the glitter of steel to influence the electors. The men who are really loyal to the country are those who have to work, who earn their bread in the sweat of their brows.

Those in Doubt Read Peck's Record.

Those who believe in Liberal principles and who profess to be in doubt which way to vote should read the record of Colonel Peck in the House of Commons as set forth on the front page of this paper today. The votes there mentioned can be verified from Hansard, a copy of which may be seen in The Daily News office. The record of all votes taken in the House is there set forth. It is an interesting record, although it takes a long time to collate the information. It is scattered through its pages. A study of the document shows that not once did Colonel Peck show his independence since he entered the House of Commons, at any rate not sufficient to bring him to vote against the Meighen or Borden administrations. It is not the brand of independence that most of the electors would like. It looks too much like being independent of the Liberals with a clinging to the Conservatives. It is the brand of independence that does not get you anywhere, as the Man in the Moon would say. It always gets you in the same place.

Give Us the Liberal Brand of Independence.

Give us the Liberal brand of independence every time. It is much more effective. Take as an instance the independence of H. G. Perry of Prince George. He is a Liberal, elected to support the Oliver administration. He finds something local which he does not like. He goes to Victoria and kicks up a fuss about it and gets it set right. He is an independent, but he is also a Liberal. He believes in Liberal principles. We find Hon. A. M. Manson of Omineca in similar roles. He is as independent as any man can be and yet retains his position in the Liberal ranks. That is the beauty of Liberalism. Its votary does not have to be gagged and tied, nor daring to call his soul his own. He speaks his mind whether it is in Parliament or in the country. That is one of the chief differences between Liberalism and Toryism.

If Fred Stork goes to Ottawa, as we believe he will, he will be as independent as you could wish. He will deal with local matters on their merits, but he will not allow them to be used for party purposes to upset the Government as long as he considers the Government is right in its general policy.

 HUNTING ACCIDENT
 LOCAL MAN'S COUSIN

Aid. Louis Francescini of Cumberland Relative of Chas. Balagno of This City.

Aid. Louis Francescini of Cumberland, an account of whose death through a hunting accident on Vancouver Island was given in The Daily News yesterday afternoon, was a cousin of Charles Balagno of this city. Reading the article yesterday afternoon, Mr.
 Balagno heard for the first time of the tragedy which had overtaken his relative. Mr. Francescini was shot through the heart and instantly killed when he was mistaken for a deer while hunting in the woods near Cumberland. He was an experienced hunter himself.

 ating All Summer—George Dover, Manager.

The mill of the Lakelse Lumber Company at Ambury closed last week for the winter after having cut lumber all summer. George Dover of Terrace is the manager of this mill and J. B. Azar is the bookkeeper. It is owned by George Little of Terrace and associates.

 PITMAN SPUR IS RUNNING AGAIN

Royal Mills, at Pitman Spur, owned by Olof Hansen and R. E.
 Allen, is operating again. Logging is going on, but the mill is not operating full blast yet. The late arrival of the snow and frost is delaying the hauling of the logs from the bush to the mill.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

November 17, 1911.
 After having been sixteen days at sea, stranding on a rock at Goose Cove, Dundas Island, and losing all of a fine catch of halibut, the gasoline schooner Fish Maid, Captain Butterfield Mackie, reached the harbor this morning.

 The Customs Office got a drenching this morning with the thaw. Water pipes in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. J.
 Morris, above the office, which had been burst by the frost started to run with bad results below.

 Dan McKinnon and William Cornish returned to town today after a land staking expedition to Porcher Island. They were missing for twelve days and it was feared that they had perished in the storms. They were, however, in shelter at Lawyer Island.
