Shall We All Reform the World?

There are many people who devote their whole lives to reforming the world or some little piece of it. They are splendid people imbued with a desire to help their neighbors and to make the world a better place in which to live. Their enjoyment is playing on the emotions of their fellows or appealing to their reason and urging them to another mode of life, which they claim is a better one.

Most of the reformers in the past have appealed to the instinct of fear imbedded in the human race. Preachers have pictured to their audiences the torments of Hell and the lot of the wicked with such effect that the more emotional of their hearers have screamed and fainted, and even hardened men have been carried away with the psychic influence of the moment and have turned from their evil ways and resolved to lead a new life. Often the resolve has been carried into effect and the result both to the individual and the community has been beneficial.

No One Disputes Need of Reform.

No one disputes the need of reform. Men are prone to evil which is another way of saying that they do things which are contrary to their own best interests and the interests of the community. By nature we take things by force. It is a part of the life of our ancestors. We know it is not good for the community that there shall be thieves, so we pass laws against thieving and for the punishment of the thieves. To some extent this is effective but the stealing goes on. As the old fashioned methods of stealing become more difficult and frowned upon by society, men have devised new methods. They have learned that there is a form of stealing that is contrary to law, but there is also another kind against which there is no law, and this form of stealing engages the attention of the more astute members of the community. There is need of reform along this line. Education does much. Community education leads the people to see everything from the communal viewpoint. They recognize that if one robs, another has to have that much less.

All the World Must be Educated.

It is useless to try to uplift one part of the world and to leave the other in its present condition. That is where missionaries do their part. If the people of Canada were all imbued with high ideals and there were no corrupt influences in the country such a condition could not continue because there would be people coming here from other countries and bringing with them the baser instincts and influences which tend toward a lowering of the general moral plane. There must be a general advancement, for intercommunication has become so general that we are influenced more or less by every other nation in the world.

Take labor as an instance. In order to live decent moral lives people must have enough wages to provide them adequate food and clothing and some of the luxuries of life, including books and other educational influences. In securing this there has been a long struggle against employers who wished to grind them down to the last penny. In order that there may be a permanent improvement, it is necessary that the workmen of the whole world get better working conditions, and this must be done partly by education. There must be no country that can undersell the others with its cheap labor. Any such country is a menace to the others. Labor is no stronger than its weakest point. This is true of every uplifting influence. It must be general in order to be effective. Any one country lagging behind is a menace to all the others. No man lives to himself, and no nation lives to itself. The whole world is part of a great scheme.

Years Of Suffering Ended By "Fruit-a-lives"

112 HAZEN ST., ST. JOHN, N. B.
 "It is with pleasure that I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicine 'Fruit-a-lives', made from fruit juices. I was a great sufferer for many years from Nervous Headaches and Constipation. I tried everything, consulted doctors; but nothing seemed to help me until I tried 'Fruit-a-lives'."

After taking several boxes, I was completely relieved of these troubles and have been unusually well ever since". Miss ANNIE WARD.

PRINCE RUPERT TIDES

Wednesday, March 2.

High 7:12 a.m., 17.5 feet.
 21:7 p.m., 15.5 feet.
 Low 1:13 a.m., 10.2 feet.
 14:35 p.m., 7.7 feet.

Thursday, March 3.

High 8:56 a.m., 17.2 feet.
 22:18 p.m., 16 feet.
 Low 2:33 a.m., 10.6 feet.
 15:48 p.m., 7.4 feet.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

POLAND AFTER RICH MINES

Plebiscite to Decide Fate of Upper Silesia to be Held Soon.

BEUTHEN, Upper Silesia, Mar. 1.—The campaign into which Poland has entered to gain control of the rich Upper Silesian industrial centres through a plebiscite victory, the middle of this month, is being directed from a rickety, three story hotel here which has been purchased by Wojciech Korfanty, director of Polish propaganda, plastered with anti-German placards, filled with propagandists and guarded from outside and inside, day and night, by armed men.

Korfanty himself, who formerly was a member of the Reichstag, and now is the hugar of the German mine owners here, has offices in the building, but they are available only to those who have unquestionable credentials. German residents and officials leave him severely alone.

Some of the huge posters in the building are relics of war propaganda, one of them picturing three old women before a firing squad of German soldiers. Under the placard is the legend, "Glosuy za polska"—vote for Poland—and under this the same legend is written in German. All the posters in addition to the Polish legends are interpreted in German, for many of the people of Polish extraction cannot speak the Polish language.

Korfanty received the Associated Press correspondent with a brisk and cheerful greeting. He was dressed in neatly tailored clothes, affected a monocle and was surrounded by many assistants, one of whom stood immediately back of him during the whole of the conversation.

In view of the Polish exchange situation, Polish money selling then at ten to one in favor of the German mark, and reports of unemployment and financial distress in Poland, Korfanty was asked what benefits the working population of Upper Silesia could expect from a union with Poland.

"The Upper Silesian question is not a problem in economy, but in nationality," he said. "The majority of these people are Poles and their sympathies are with Poland. Poland's situation will improve. In the meantime we will break up this feudal system here by which the German mine owners have oppressed Polish workmen for 400 years. Seventy-five per cent of the German officials of Upper Silesia will, of course, vote for Germany, but we will have an overwhelming majority in the elections."

P. E. I. FARMERS

Movement in Island is Mostly Co-operative

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Mar. 1.—The seed of the agrarian movement is being sown broad cast over the three counties of Prince Edward Island. The movement, unlike that spreading throughout other parts of the Dominion, is up to the present almost non-political in character and confines its attention pretty largely to economic problems, chief of which is the co-operative buying and selling proposition.

A resolution looking toward the betterment of transportation facilities which was unanimously passed by the Convention, condemned the Canadian National Railways for high passenger and freight rates. Other resolutions strongly urge the standardization of the gauge of the P. E. I. Railway and the building of a second car-ferry steamer to improve the island-mainland service.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

March 1, 1911

By a vote of 437 to 41 the workmen on the Prince Rupert street have decided to go on strike until their demand for 35c an hour is met by the city council or the contractors. The latter propose bringing in strike breakers from the south.

That gold dust, registered mail and currency to the value of $40,000 was stolen on the last southbound passage from Alaska is the sensational story reported in Vancouver to the authorities. The greatest secrecy is being maintained.
