PUBLIC SCHOOL CONCERT HELD LAST EVENING

Performance Will be Repeated in Booth Memorial School This Evening.

Four hundred and twenty-three people crowded into the assembly hall of the Booth Memorial School last evening to witness the term closing concert by the public school children of the city. The entire performance was a dainty and colorful affair and reflected much credit on the teachers under whose supervision and instruction the various numbers were put on. Each division was responsible for one item and while some were more elaborate than others it would be a difficult matter to say which if any, were the best or provided the most entertainment to the appreciative audience. The concert will be r epeated tonight and should prove a great attraction to those who did not attend last night. The program presents something different from what is usually seen and marks the first school concert to be held in the city on such a large scale.

The Programme.

The opening number was a Star Drill by the classes of Miss R. Moloney and Miss Helen Hibbard. The children taking part were prettily costumed in green and white.

The next item, a dramatization of the nursery rhyme, Simple Simon, was presented by Miss Hall's receiving class.

Six little girls and two boys took part in the Lullaby by Miss T. McKinnon's Third Reader class. They were garbed in negro costumes and sat on rocking chairs singing the "Wyoming Lullaby."

Miss J. Eason's class put on the scene "Christmas Dolls." There were a variety of make-believe dolls among them being Eskimos, Indians and Negroes.

Fairy Tale.

The dramatization of the fairy tale "The Sleeping Beauty," staged by Miss Rivett's class was one of the most elaborate numbers of the program. The full story was aptly pictured in the dramalization which was improvised by Miss Rivett, herself.

"A Dream" by Miss McLeod's class depicted a little girl who fell asleep and dreamed she was a dancer. Two girls took part in it, Miss Grace Hall d oing the dancing.

"Mrs. Ruggles of Manners," from the Birds' Christmas Carol was put on by Miss Stone's class. Eight or nine children took their parts well.

"The Dolls' Tea Party," by Miss Minn's class was another attractive little playlet.

The fold dance "Rougeverte" was s taged by Miss A. M. Mercer's class. Six little boys and six little girls danced in red and green costumes.

The Street Scene in Cairo, by Miss Rothwell's class, was a bazaar scene. The dancing girls who took part were trained by Mrs. D. Thomson.

Nicholas Nickleby

"Dotheboys' Hall," a dramatization from "Nicholas Nickleby" was put on by Miss Mills' class.

Miss E. A. Mercer's class performed a folk dance in costume eight girls taking part.

The ballad "Alice Brand" from Scott's "Lady of the Lake" which is the Literature text for the Entrance Class was daintily dramatized by Mrs. Hartness' entrance class.

The closing number was "Scenes from Japan" by Mr. Sim's entrance class. This was very colorful and beautifully staged.

The singing of the National Anthem drew the program to a close.

BUSINESS MEN AND POLITICS

Edmonton, Dec. 16.—The Edmonton Board of Trade decided at a special meeting today, to take no action with a view to securing representation for Northern Alberta in the new federal cabinet. Percy W. Abbott, president of the Board, ruled that there be no discussion on the matter and asked for a standing vote to determinde whether or not the action suggested should be taken, at the same time urged extreme caution.

As the vote resulted 92 in favor, with 29 either opposed or declining to commit themselves, it was decided that there was insufficient unanimity to warrant further consideration of the question. In explaining the situation, and pointing out the effect of the action suggested, President Abbott said:

"The recent federal election has created a condition in the province of Alberta which, in the opinion of many members of this board, warrants some step on the part of the business men of Edmonton, as represented by the board of trade, to secure for Alberta representation in the new federal c abinet about to be formed.

"I was requested by a large number of members to call a meeting of the council to discuss this matter and the requests were so numerous that I fell it my duty as president to comply. A meeting of the council was therefore held on Saturday last at five p.m., at which meeting the matter was discussed and your council instructed that a full meeting of the board be called, to give the members an opportunity of saying whether or not this board should participate in any action with such an end in view.

"I feel it my duty as president of this organization to preserve its activities fully within the bounds for which the organization was promoted, at the same time recognizing the principle of promoting the best interests of the community and our citizens.

"If we permit the discussion of subjects which are of a distinct political nature, we are bound to create dissension and trouble which cannot be overcome, and the usefulness of the board of trade will b e lost.

"It is absolutely necessary and of paramount importance that the efficiency and usefulness of this board be preserved, and we must not move in doubtful matters without the most carefully reasoned judgment this board must not within itself be seriously divided. Any discussion or action of the board which would leave it subject to just adverse criticism will do material damage, from which it may take many years to recover.

Right of Prime Minister

"The selection of a cabinet is the constitutional right of the prime minister, although he may be guided by the advice of his friends and political supporters. I know of no case in Canadian political history where any attempt has been made by a body such as this to influence the first minister in such selection.

"Considerable criticism has already reached me in this connection, and the members of the board must weigh their thought carefully before making any decision. At the close of our last year, this board had reached the highest mark in its history in point of membership and there never has been a period in our history when greater care was necessary, or where more harm could be done by a false or ill-considered move.
