Ghandi Finds Himself in Jail.

Ghandi finds himself in jail. He is a very clever man, old and shriveled, according to what one reads of him, and yet he was able to move his fellow countrymen as no man ever before moved them. He urged the policy of non-co-operation. It was an unarmed resistance, almost a passive resistance, but not exactly that. He travelled over the country and roused the ignorant people, with the result that the British prince has not always had a good reception from the populace. Yet in some places he has had such tremendous ovations as have made up for the lack of it at others.

On such a campaign as that Ghandi was sure to break the law eventually, and he seems to have broken it by interfering with the enlistment of national volunteers in the militia. For this he has been sent to prison to dream over his lost opportunities.

The natural geniality of the young prince has done a good deal to counteract the influence of the old agitator. Where the people of India have met him he has made friends, and his visit will do a great deal to foster a better feeling in that country.

Power of One Man Great as Ever.

Even in these democratic days the power of one man of strong will and fixed endeavor in a community is as strong as ever. That is seen in the case of Ghandi. The old man is able to go through the country and rouse the people and control them to such an extent that he can almost cause a revolution, or at any rate sow the seeds of revolution.

People often wonder why it is that Britain should bother about India. There is no financial gain to Britain from having India dependent on it except perhaps that a few people get jobs in the civil service, which usually ruins their constitutions and sends them to early graves. Should Britain withdraw today the country would again break up into principalities and small nations. By holding on and gradually educating the people and teaching them self government the time may come when they will be able to carry on without being a danger to the rest of the world. Today India is far from being ready for handling her own affairs. There is no homogeneity, although that unity of spirit and action may come in time. The various religions of the country are a source of danger.

Some day a young man with power such as has Ghandi may arise who will weld together the heterogeneous groups and form them into a nation. Should such a time come, Britain's work will be completed and it will be time for her to withdraw and leave the country to govern itself.

France's Demand Should Be Modified.

The demand of France at the armament conference is likely to be modified when the condition of affairs is placed squarely before her. Naturally there is a feeling of jealousy between the powers, each making demands which are not likely to be fulfilled. First it was Japan, now it is France. Each country thinks itself just as important as any other, if not more important.

Everyone will sincerely wish that there may be no break in the proceedings, but that arrangements may be made for a satisfactory solution of the armament question. Co-operation will be much better than competition in the armament line.

Drilling for Oil May Yet Succeed.

Drilling for oil in this neighborhood may yet succeed. Some people are sceptical, but there is a good chance of getting results. Either in the Skeena or Kitsumkalum valleys or on Queen Charlotte Islands there are indications which are said to be good. If success is attained it will be a great thing for this district. It means such a development as could not be attained in any other way. Anything that Prince Rupert can do in a legitimate way to help on the work should not be neglected.

WHAT CAUSES SO MUCH SICKNESS

Constipation Responsible for 90% of Disease

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Corrects It

It is generally recognized among the medical profession that Constipation or Inefficient Action of The Bowels, produces more disease than any other one cause. Constipation is responsible for at least 90% of the disease in the world today—because Constipation is responsible for the Indigestion and Dyspepsia—the nervousness, Insomnia and Rheumatism—the Eczema and other skin troubles—the Headaches and Backaches.

Why is this? As you know, it is the duty of the bowels to carry off the waste matter in the system. If the bowels muscles are weak or the liver inactive, then this waste matter remains in the body and poisons the blood. As a result, every organ in the body is poisoned by this waste.

"Fruit-a-tives" has been wonderfully successful in relieving Stomach Troubles, Nervous Troubles, Liver Troubles, Kidney Troubles, Skin Troubles and Blood Troubles, because "Fruit-a-tives" positively and emphatically relieves Constipation. "Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Constipation, even though the trouble has been chronic for ten, fifteen and twenty years. Thousands of grateful users proclaim "Fruit-a-tives" the greatest remedy for Constipation that the world has ever known.

December 17, 1911.

The Ratepayers' Association held a meeting in the McIntyre Hall last night to prepare for the forthcoming municipal election. They discussed good government and decided to call another meeting to secure good candidates for a business administration. W. J. Alder was chairman and the speakers were J. S. Cowper, H. F. McRae and C. B. Bennett.

Men started this morning on the work of building a temporary land registry office to replace the one which was recently destroyed by fire. It is likely that the building of a new permanent office will commence in the spring.

Miss Sophie Haudenschild was married last evening to Thomas Ballinger, Rev. W. H. McLeod officiating. The groom is well known in the city and is employed at Tite's furniture house.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:

WHAT we fear seldom hurts us. We had feared Japan was the difficulty, but it is France that is putting the spoke in the wheel of the disarmament conference.

FRANCE agreed to the principle of the reduction of armaments, but wanted it to apply mostly to the other fellow.

Standing Room Only.

THE Quebec people are disinclined to favor Toryism. When the mayor of one of the towns heard a Tory meeting was to be held he ordered the chairs removed and the audience, such as it was, had to stand.

A CORRESPONDENT wonders why we said "Canda kneads Weighen" considering the amount of dough the party has.

SOME unpleasant person says that was William Lyon Mackenzie that led the victors in the recent political upheaval.

NORTHERNERS ON PRINCESS MARY

About One Hundred Passengers on C.P.R. Coaster Which Called Here Last Evening.

The Canadian Pacific coaster Princess Mary, Captain Ormiston called at this port last night south bound for Vancouver from south-eastern Alaskan ports. The ship arrived at 11 o'clock and pulled out again at midnight.

The steamer had on board about one hundred out-going Yukoners and Alaskans who are going to spend the holiday season in the south. The trip down the coast to Prince Rupert was delightful and the weather was almost of the mildness of summer. So warm was it that many of the passengers sat outside while the boat was steaming south without either wraps or overcoats.

When the Princess Mary left Skagway she had only a handful of Yukoners on board but after the calls at Juneau, Wrangell, and Ketchikan had been made the number was increased to about a hundred.

Two families of mother, father, and half a dozen kiddies were among the passengers. One Skagway family is on the way to far away Italy for a winter trip. Another family of Alaskan kiddies, who were never before south and had never seen a street car, were very excited at the prospect of seeing a big city for the first time.

The most of those going south on the ship from the Yukon were old timers of the '98 stamp and some of them were well known to Prince Rupert people.

Fox Farmer.

An interesting passenger was J. Audrey Simmons, whose father was the first Canadian Customs officer at the Summit and who was later stationed at Carcross. Young Simmons went to Carcross when he was a very small boy. Today he is a tall strapping young man and saw service in France. He and his brother have a fox ranch at Carcross which they have run for some eight years. Mr. Simmons is going south to Vancouver with this season's crop of fox furs. Six silver greys and four cross foxes, all stowed away in a modest suit-case, which he carries along as if it contained a few personal effects, are worth from three to four thousand dollars.

Pioneer Fisherman.

There was also on board the Princess Mary, Kenny Melvor, the pioneer fisherman of the northern interior fresh water lakes. He catches trout and white fish in Lake Labarge and supplies fish to the cities of Dawson and Whitehorse also having a contract for the White Pass boats which run to Dawson in the summer months. Mr. Melvor is going to spend a month in Victoria before returning north again to engage in his business.

The arrivals from the North tell of good conditions prevailing there. All is cheerfulness and optimism and all have the same favorable story to tell of Alaska, Yukon and Northern B.C. Everyone is happy and care free and there is lots of grub, plenty of wood, comfortable houses, hotels and hospitals. All are satisfied that at the present moment to live north of 53 is perhaps the greatest good fortune that any one could have. The most of those who left last night for the south are returning north in the spring.

J. A. Macdonald, who was engaged in the accounting department of the Wallace Shipbuilding Co. here, sailed last night by the Princess Mary for California. Mr. Macdonald will be gone at least three months.

One thing to remember about conceit is the truthful fact that it rhymes with defeat.
