Prest Is Planning Flight Around World to Start From Nevada Next May

C. O. Prest, the Las Vegas aviator who is in Prince Rupert with the biplane "Polar Bear," en route from Mexico to Siberia, plans next year to fly around the world.

The proposed flight will, of course, depend on the success of the present one, which Mr. Prest hopes to complete before the winter sets in in the North. He will ship his plane back to Seattle from Nome and will then return to Nevada to make plans for the next flight.

Mr. Prest will build a new monoplane especially for the flight. It will be a one-man machine, lighter than the "Polar Bear," and will be capable of making longer flights without lighting.

Leaving Las Vegas in May, Mr. Prest will come north along the same route as he has followed on the present flight. He will possibly again call at Prince Rupert for it will be an easier matter for him to land here the lighter plane. From here he will go to Nome and crossing to Siberia will fly to Vladivostok in two hops. Then he will go over China and India and along the Red Sea. Flying over the countries in southern Europe he will make his way to Norway and cross the Atlantic stopping at Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland. He will finish up by returning from Nova Scotia across the United States to his home. The flight will take about a year.

Mr. Prest had not intended making the round the world flight until 1923 but now that Sir Ross Smith, the British aviator, is planning a similar flight, but in an opposite direction, he has decided to advance his plans. Sir Ross Smith intends commencing the big flight this fall.

Fires the First Shot Opening Campaign Liberals in the East

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—"The Liberal policy is that of tariff for revenue in the interests of the producers and consumers, not a tariff in the interests of the combines, trusts and mergers such as a tariff based primarily on the principle of protection is all but certain to be," declared W. L. Mackenzie King at a meeting held here last night marking the opening of the Liberal general election campaign in this province.

Mr. King declared that Premier Meighen was forced into calling an election because the press supporting the government had broken into open rebellion against the government holding office longer. He urged the forces of Liberalism to unite and fight a common foe.

The leader of the opposition expressed strong condemnation of the government's attitude in refusing information to Parliament respecting expenditures for the railways and merchant marine.

FOX PELTS IN DEMAND

The grand total for the first two days reaching $1,230,000, the selling was very largely given over to foxes. Grey and silver fox were also sold during the day but brought nothing unusual in the way of prices.

VIENNA, Sept. 21.—At the instance of the Socialists the police occupied the bourse yesterday and stopped all trading.
