UNEMPLOYMENT TIDE FLOWING

More than Million in United Kingdom and Situation Getting Worse

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The tide of unemployment is still flowing. A million were out of work on January 21 and the number is increased by 60,000 in the week just past. These figures are exclusive of those who are working for short periods. As many South Wales mines are closing down, owing to a virtual cessation of coal exports to France and elsewhere, the situation is all round becoming worse.

THE TRAGEDY OF AUSTRIA

Terrible Privations Suffered by Inhabitants of Vienna

VIENNA, Jan. 30.—An American business man who has just revisited this city was so surprised at the changes that had taken place in the once gay Austrian capital that he declared the "panorama of misery" he witnessed here was the greatest shock of his life.

Henry Barna, of St. Paul, Minn., last visited Vienna ten years ago when, as he said, there was "great fun" here. Now he has returned and spent about two weeks, long enough, he says, to know what he is talking about.

"I never dreamed," said Mr. Barna to an American Red Cross representative here, "that Vienna would show such tragic effects of the war. I have been in nearly every capital of Europe since the armistice, but nowhere have I seen such wholesale misery. Everything is out of joint. Everything is uncertain. Food is scarce, and fuel still more difficult to obtain. I don't suppose anyone can be happy in a sea of misery like this."

Not a Smile

"Why," he went on, "there isn't a smile, much less a laugh, in that crowd," referring to the people passing the hotel in the Ringstrasse. "They seem so sad and dull-eyed, these Viennese, who were so gay when I was here before."

"Everybody seems to be carrying something. These little bundles are scraps of food which they have been given by some more fortunate neighbor or the relief agencies. There's a man in a fur coat carrying a handkerchief full of food. He wouldn't be seen doing that when I was here last. He would be too proud."

Carrying Wood

Mr. Barna told of a visit he had made a few days before to the Wienerwald, a great forest, an hour's street car ride from the centre of Vienna where he saw a sight which he likened to a nightmare. The people were allowed to go there for wood, were emerging from the forest, their backs heavily laden with the packs of fuel.

"There were hundreds of men, women and children," he said, "their clothing soaked with the cold rain, and they were filing along the roadside in an almost unbroken line, all headed for Vienna, stooped from the weight of 60 or 70 pounds of wet wood. Sixty pounds was their allowance, but I was told that many slipped by the inspectors with more than that."

Hear Water Ooze

"There were many sorts of people in that line which has been stretched along that road for more than a year. I saw a woman of evident gentle birth, in a fur coat, probably the last vestige of her wealth, bent over under the weight of her pack, trudging along beside a former officer in the Austrian army who still wore his great grey coat and cap. Then came children of the very poor with their little feet protruding from their worn shoes. It was very wet underfoot and at their every step one could hear the water oozing from their shoes."

"You Murderer!"

Who? The dead man's wife? Her lover? The doctor? The pretty niece? Or were those strange teeth marks the clue to another crime by Arsene Lupin? And who of these five was crouching there in the "house of mystery," in frantic fear of that steady automatic?

Like a Tidal Wave

Heart Disease and Nerve Troubles Sweep the Country.

Probably at no period in the world's history have heart and nerve troubles been so prevalent as they are today.

The heart can't stand the stress and strain of this busy, bustling age, and the care and worry, the anxiety and activity of business life constitute a serious drain on the nervous system.

The business of this work-a-day world goes with such a rush that the stoutest hearts and stoutest nerves break down under the strain.

On the first approach of any breakdown of the system Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be taken. The reconstructive power of these pills on the heart and nerve system is simply marvelous.

Mr. W. E. Wright, Hopewell Avenue, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "After suffering for some time with my heart, I consulted a number of doctors. But got no relief. However, I read what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills had done for others, who had the same symptoms and thought I would give them a trial. Believe me, six boxes relieved me. I am feeling fine now, and can attend to my work every day. I can recommend your pills to any one suffering as I did."
