RAISE CATTLE PORCHER ISLAND

John Murray Brings Beef to Town Produced Under Adverse Conditions.

John Murray of Porcher Island is in the city with some fine fat beef which he has raised on Porcher Island. He says there are great opportunities for beef raising there and the place is so near the market that there is no difficulty in disposing of the product. He lives at Jap Inlet.

Speaking of the possibilities on the island, M. Murray says the cattle he has never been under cover in the winter. They did not know what a roof means. While he does not advocate keeping cattle under those conditions it just shows how cattle may be kept on the island. There is splendid feed on the hills throughout the summer, but of course the difficulty is in raising hay for winter feed. Some winters are milder than others and usually cattle should be fed when snow is on the ground and if there is frost. Last year there was a little snow on the ground, but for less than two weeks.

Mr. Murray says deer are scarce on the island and there are not many grouse.

BODY OF HUNTER WHO DIED NEAR NAAS HARBOR HERE

Donald Emile Lecaille Was Native of Glasgow, Scotland, and Was 51 Years of Age.

The body of the late Donald Emile Lecaille, the Naas Harbor gasboat engineer who lost his life when on a hunting trip last week, was brought to the city yesterday by the fisheries patrol boat Linnell and is in the hands of Hayner Bros., undertakers. Coroner J. H. McMullin conducted an enquiry, examining the witnesses and found that an inquest was unnecessary. Deceased had suffered from heart trouble as a result of war service and he had expired from this cause.

Mr. Lecaille was a native of Glasgow, Scotland, and was 51 years of age. He is survived by a wife and daughter in London and a daughter in Los Angeles.

THRILL AND CHARM IN BUCK JONES PLAY

Those who love to be thrilled, who can be charmed by pure romance, who can laugh at clear, clean humor should not fail to see the cyclonic Fox star Buck Jones in his latest picture "Just Pals," which is here tonight at the Empress Theatre.

Buck Jones is certain to add materially to his reputation by his clever portrayal of Bim, a "nobody" and the principal character in this stirring story of the western country—a story replete with thrills, romance and humor, and giving the star a role more interesting, perhaps, than any he has yet held.

FORMER DEPUTY MINISTER ALBERTA GOVERNMENT HERE

N. L. Harvey, who was deputy minister of railways and telephones in the late Stewart government of Alberta, arrived today from Vancouver on the Prince Rupert and continued his journey to Edmonton. He was accompanied by P. C. Andrews and Mr. Ketcham, of Edmonton. The former went East with Mr. Harvey and the latter will return south tomorrow night.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

Herbert H. McLean, of Letite, was in St. Stephen on Tuesday accompanied by his brothers, Russell from Boston and Andrew from Prince Rupert, B.C. the former being enroute home to Boston. The two visitors had been guests of Herbert McLean at Letite, the first time the brothers had been together in twenty-nine years. Things have changed in that time and the use of the automobile made it possible to visit scenes and childhood friends widely separated. Monday was spent with friends in St. Andrew, their native town. The reunion has been greatly enjoyed by these three worthy sons of Charlotte county and their visit by friends they have met.—St. Croix Courier, St. Stephens, N.B.
