I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills — the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

The second round in the Elks' Christmas turkey snooker tournament is now nearly finished and the final should take place by tomorrow evening. The following are the results in the second round as far as played: M. M. McLachlan, 53; Joe Brown, 75; R. Arthur, 38; S. J. Evans, 70; B. Self, 24; E. Green, 42; J. Knight, 64; J Cobb, 23. The following games in this round still remain to be played; John Day Bell vs. B. Morgan; C. Balagno vs. R. Lepine; W. Cook vs. W. Balangno; H. Astori vs. K. Rood.

Eight billiard players still have perfect averages in the Trail Club shield competition which is now nearing the end of the first half of its schedule. J. H. Pillsbury, of the Elks, was the first to make the five perfect games so has achieved a perfect score for the first half of the series. W. J. Nelson, of the Wanderers, will have the same record if he wins in the next game on January 4. W. Blythe, J. Shakespeare and W. Barbour, all of the Trail, have the chance to do the same if they win in the next two games in which their club takes part. R. H. Shockley has a record of three wins and no losses so far and Joe Howe has two wins. J. Waugh, of the Trail, has one win and no losses to his credit this far. Bert McEvoy, of the Elks, and B. Andrews, of the St. Andrews, each fell from the perfect record on Wednesday night when they met defeat.

Basketball fans will get their money's worth in the games to be played at the Exhibition Hall this evening. There will be two special challenge features, the game between the Port Simpson natives and the Sons of Canada Seniors, and the game between the Old Timers and the Colts, intermediate champs. The Meteors and Telephone Girls, in the Ladies' League, should put up a good game with the odds slightly in favor of the former. Besides this there will be the special game between the Canucks and the Comets.

PRIZMA PROCESS IS EMBODIED IN PICTURE WESTHOLME TONIGHT

Several Scenes of Mae Murray's New Picture Photographed in Natural Colors.

For the first time in the history of Paramount picture-making in the East, scenes made by the Prizma process in natural colors have been incorporated into a Paramount feature picture. This was for "The Gilded Lily," featuring Mae Murray, which will be shown at the Westholme Theatre for two days, beginning tonight.

Director Robert Z. Leonard, in explaining the reason for combining Prizma shots with the regular motion picture photography said that "The Gilded Lily" lent itself especially to colored photography for the opening of the picture and that by use of it the main theme of the story could be more convincingly and effectively introduced. The colored shots were used only for the introduction to the picture itself.

"The Gilded Lily" is an original story by Clara Beranger, and was written especially for Miss Murray. It tells the story of a dancer in a New York club, and gives Miss Murray unusual opportunities to display her histrionic ability and her skill as a dancer. In a monster cabaret set of rare beauty, Miss Murray executed two difficult dances, one a variation of the Spanish variety, the other a bubble dance.

PITCHING IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 23.—Pitching honors for the season went to Urban C. Faber, the White Sox veteran, who allowed but 2.48 earned runs for each nine innings, according to official American League pitching records for 1921 issued today. Faber worked 331 innings before he was laid out with an injury and fewer runs were scored by opponents against Chicago when he pitched than were earned off the second best regular, George Mogridge, of Washington, who had a sparkling season. The Chicago star was credited with twenty-five victories and charged with fifteen defeats, a winning average of .625 through his team finished in seventh place.

Carl Mays and Waite Hoyt, co-stars of the champion Yankees, were third and fourth respectively, among the regulars with averages of 3.08 and 3.10. Mays led in percentage of games won with an average of .750, his record reading, 27—9. Urban Shocker, of St. Louis, also won 27 games but lost 12 for a record of .692. Mays also led in actual work, hurling 337 innings, six more than Faber.

Nine Straight Games.

Urban Shocker, great spit-ball hurler of the St. Louis Bronws won nine straight games in August and finished the season with a record of 27-12 for an average of .692. Davis of the same team pitched and won a nineteen inning contest from Washington in which only one man reached first base in the last nine innings. Sam Jones and Joe Bush of Boston, Edwin Rommell, Philadelphia and S. Coveleskie, of Cleveland, all were effective despite the lively ball while two young southpaws, Cole, of Detroit, and Bayne, of St. Louis, were almost unbeatable during the final month of the season.

Most of the pitchers found it very difficult to cope with the great sluggers of the league and the hurling, as a whole, was far less effective than in any previous year. As a result shut out victories and games of few hits were conspicuous by their rarity and strike out records of former years were not approached by the almost successful of the twirlers.
